It was All the Same to the Man Whe Was Treating.

Individuality is lost sight of in the cities. It is swallowed up, as it were, in the mob. In a village it stands ous with surprising distinctness. The odd characters of the place are known to everybody, and their queer sayings and doings are told from mouth to mouth.

In a certain little town not a great ways from Cleveland there are probably as many of these peculiar people as any place of its size can boast. One of them is an ancient man who longs for the goost old times that followed the war and is a airm believer in the criminal weakness of the present financial system. He is a man of considerable property, but nevertheless is soonomical to an extreme degree. In fact, he was never known to spend a penny that didn's go for some actual necessity.

There is another character in the town who keeps the village general store. He is a good hearted fellow, who, after a long course of bachelorhood, finally married In this little town it is the custom for the happy bridegroung to set up the cigars for all the congratulating males who drop in to whah him loy. So the bridegroom in this instance had a box on the counter, and most of his patrons were regaled from it.

he studied law two years. Returning to

as a speaker. On one occasion he was making a Whig speach on one side of the Democrat was fast getting the crowd when Mr. Oglesby, who was an old fashloued fiddler and played as well as he spoke, borrowed a fiddle from a man in the crowd and bagan to play. That broke up the opposition mesting, and the Democrat, left without an audience, came over

and joined the crowd that was dancing to

Colonel Cody, better known as "Buffale Bill," is one of the finest shots in the world. One of his most wonderful feats was not generally performed in public, for the reason that its failure or success could not be discorned at any great distance. It consisted in driving into a white board five short, flat headed tacks with five successive shots, from a distance just short smough to allow the tacks to be securately sighted. So great was Colonel Cody's skill with the light rifle he used for this feat that, given favorable light, he could generally perform it six or seven times without a mics.—St Louis Globe-Dumocrab.

OUTWITTING AN ELEPHANT.

A Hunter Saved by Mis Knowledge of the Beast's Rabits.

a Hunter Saved by His Knewledse of the Beast's Habits.

Only those familiar with the "manners and customs" of the elephant have any idea what a nimble creature it really is. Massive and slow footed as it looks, it is expable, when roused, of feats that would be difficult for much fleeter animals. Espacially is this the case with African elephants, which, though tailer, are generally lighter than their Asiatic brothren. Moreover, accustomed for ages to lead a wild life and aften depending on their electrons and speed of foot for their very existence, they have acquired a skill in gymnastics which has considered as a still in gymnastic which has considered as a still in gymnastic which has considered as a still in gymnastic which has the sports and had just fired at and wounded a magnificent specimen. Unfortunately for him, he had only successed in slightly wounding it, when, infuriated by the about a still in the second as a terrifying sight. With its encomous ears spread out like asils and emitting shrill notes of rage, it came thundering over the ground like a runaway locomotive. The hunter fired another shot, but missed. His nerve was shaken, and, throwing down his "express" rife, he sought asfety in flight. Near at hand was a steep hill, and to this he directed his steps, for, being but slightly acquainted with the climbing powers of the slephant, he thought his pursuer might be baffled by the steepness of the accent.

It was a terrible disappointment to find ahat the elephant ould climb a hill just as quickly as the hunter, nimble runner as he was. The fugitive, indeed, would have soon been overtaken

Quick as a flash the elephant turned, Quick as a finsh the elephant surried, gathered himself together and, trumpeting with haffled rage, fill down after his victim. The hunter had just time to spring out of the way as the great beast came "tologganing" after him, smashing trees and shrubs and carrying everything before it like an avalanche. Then once the hunter deshed to the ton of the before it like an avalanch. Then once more the hunter dashed to the top of the hill, while the elephant, unable to stop itself, went careering down to the very cot, where, apparently feeling very sore and disappointed, it rose and walked vearlly back to its native woods.—Chuma.

Christianity changed all this. A, notable example of Christian charity is afforded by the noble life of the late Father Damien, who went out among the legers preaching to them and otherwi e doing them good and finally contracting the terrib's divense. The object in building the House o Providence, continued Father Casey, is twofold. In the first place, it is intended for orphans. It is indeed a great virtue to see that the children who are left fatherless and motherless are provided with a home brought up to be Christians and good members of rociety. What an anxiety for a dying mother to !eave children upon the cold charity of the world. And he lay on his back, you see,
And a peaceful look on his face he wore,
For sound salesy was be.
In his dream what marv'lous trips he made,
What tremendous bills he sold.
And sobody failed, and every one paid.
And his orders were as good as gold.
He mailed and smothered a scenful laugh
When his fullow drummer blowed.
For he knew ne other had sold, the half
Of what his order book showed.
He got this letter from home does day:
"Dear file—We've no fitter term
To use in your case than simply to any

And a glorious change this made in his life;
He now from the road withdraw.
And really soon got to know his wife,
His son and his daughter too.
And then he moved from his chosure file
To a house on the avenue,
Livel swell, was happy, got healthy and file

A GREAT POKER GAME

IT MIGHT HAVE BROUGHT ABOUT AN INTERNATIONAL ROW.

The Victim Was the Samoan King Halicton and the Victor on Am can Naval Officer - The Jack Pet That Caused the Trouble

"There was a stiff game of poker player by a paymaster in the navy with king Malietoa several years ago. I guess this was about the healthiest game ever in dulged in by a foreigner. Malietoa had heard of the great games played by Kal akana, king of Hawaii, and the Samoan thought he'd like to take a little brush on this line. Well, Malietoa's opportunity to test his belief came one day when an to test his belief came one day when an American man-of-war—lever mind which one—sailed into the harbor at Apia. His determination to take the thirty-second degree in the mysteries of the great American game was satisfied to the full-American game was saturated to the full-est extent. Among the officers aboard the man-of-war were a paymaster, a lieu@nant and an asistant engineer, who had burned the midnight iamp studying poker at Annapolis and had prosecuted the study in season and out prosecuted the study in season and out of season ever since they left that place. In a word, they were all three just about as smooth soker players as you could find in a month's travel.

"There was a trader among the white residents of Apia who was known to come to the front with a pretty stiff game, and Malietoa soon arranged through him a game with the officers. By invitation and appointment the king and his friends met the officers in the private parlors of a European, and before the evening was half gone Malietoa rethe evening was half gone Malietoa re-quested that the limit, a small one, be taken off. The old codger had won sev-eral pretty fair jack pots and felt his importance and ability to clean up the whole crowd. Off the limit came, and whose crown. Our the first came, and for several hours Malieton had almost phenomenal luck, winning jack pot after jack pot. The more he won the more reckless he became, and when something was said about closing down he entered was said about closing down he entered a large and emphatic protest. The game proceeded, and the healthiest jack pot of the night was on the table.

"Several hands had been dealt around without any one having expressed his ability to open the pot, when the king, with a look of surprise and a smile of pleasure and triumph combined, announced that he would open it $20 words. Every player staid. The paymaster drew three cards, the lieutenant the same numthree cards, the lieutenant the same num her, the assistant engineer took two and the trader one. Malletoa showed his bood by standing out and putting $10 more into the pot. The paymaster saw this and raised him $25, while the others Then the king raised again, and the paymaster threw in $25 more. the paymanter threw in 250 more. It was becoming too interesting for the other players, and they dropped out. After the king's last raise the paymanter hesitated a moment, put his rigar to one side and shoved $50 to the middle of the mahog-

"The king put up the equivalent in Chilean silver dollars, the currency of the islands, and, drawing a small sack from his pocket, emptied its contents before him and excitedly placed in the pot the funds of the royal treasury of Sa-moa, amounting to $79 in silver. The paymaster's face grew serious, and he looked at his royal opponent in a fiesitat-ing, puzzled sort of way. Could this be a Samuan Ah Sin he had run against? a Samoan Ah bin he had read son of a liad this kingly copper colored son of a gun learned the art of poker playing agun learned the art of poker playing from visiting traders years before and had he been playing possum all the evening? Having six or seven months' pay in his inside pocket, the paymanter decided to chance some of it in finding out. "After a few moments of undecision he drew $579 in gold and silver from his pocket and added it to the pot, which now covered the table. Malietoa gave a gasp and called for a glass of kava to steady his nerves. This he gulped down and announced that he was out of funds, requesting at the same time that the paymanter take his word for $500, but there was nary a take, the paymanter only smilling and looking fixedly at the pot. To this the paymaster consented, and a transfer deed of the property, duly signed, attested by the trader, who was a notary public, and witnessed by the other two officers, was put in the pot. Then the king called the paymaster, who allowly laid down four acces and a five

Then he fell off his chair in faint, the excitement having been too much for his nerves. Kava in cupious quantities brought him around sufficiently to enable his removal to his own castle. "When I was much younger," said the portly government official, "I was a husky young fellow, chesty and sasy about my pugilistic ability. I got the boxing bee in my bonnet and practiced hard with the gloves every night. I had been sparring with fellows in my gymnasium for about six months and picking up what I thought was a whole lot of cleverness, when I moved to a boarding house on Pierrepont street, in Brouklyn. I had a room on the top floor of this boarding house. The top floor's rooms were all occupied by young fellows like myself—law and medical students, newspaper chaps and that sort. It was rather a scapegrave lot, and I got acquainted with most of them immediately I had a lot of athletic gear along with me—clubs, dumbbells, weight pulling machines and stuff—and from the jump I gave these floor mates of mine to understand that I was some considerable pumpkins as an athlete. When I showed 'essemy boxing gloves, I was particular to dwell upon the fact that boxing was my one particular graft, and I think I modestly threw the hint out that I'd never yet mot a man of my weight that outh put the gloves on with me in the amaseur class. For a couple of nights running I let them look at me in the act of punching a bag I had suspended from the celling of my room, and they all agreed, I think, that I'd be rather an unsafe proposition to get addled up with in a scrap.

"One of the occupants of that top floor was away when I struck the house, and he didn't strike me as being a very cheerful chap, and I rather ignored him. Well, all and to talking on my favorits.

'I'll just tap you lightly, and you can hit me as hard as you want. It's raining, and I don't want to go to the gym tonight, and I wish one of you ducks 'ud just slip 'em on with me.'

They Keep Meving.

The raligion of a Bedouin tripe seems to be to "move onward." Having ones begun the nomadic life, it becomes almost necessary for them to keep it up. In the first place, they don't want to estile down, and they wouldn't have any place to stop if they wanted to. Sometimes it becomes expedient that they make great haste in these long journeys. Wandering around over the plains are other tribus whose only occupation is "moving on." There is frequently enmity between two of these Arabian families, and should one pursue the other it behoves the pursued to hasten onward with all the speed their animals are capable of. Or it may be that the uprings of water are so widely separated that hard travel is necessary to make the distance from one to the other in a day.

When either of these contingencies arises, they cook and est while on the march. They don't set much. Two or three dinners such as American boys and girls are used to every day and company are supposed not to agree with Bedouin children's stomachs. When on the road, bread it their chief food. London July 21 .- A remarkable move has been made in the Druce case, which will be heard in the form of an appeal by the petitioner again, shortly before the courts. For some months past a firm of old standing has been engaged in sifting the evidence in support of Mrs. Druce's claims. Many witpesses have been examined and of this number it is proposed to call at the proper period about twalve.

The statements of all there have been reduced to the form of statutory declarations made before the Commissioners for Oaths, and this having bace doze, the sworn testimony has been submitted to several persons of financial position in the city. There latter did not consider that the general public should be appealed to provide funds for presecuting the claims of Mrs. Druce and her The result, therefore, has been that entirely by private subscription many thousands of dollars have been raised by the issue of certificary money bonds, and the sum so raised, amounting to mearly $50,000, is expected to reach within the next few days an amount nearly double that sum, arrangements induced being practically concluded to that offect.

When the Germans Were Not Allow ed to Smoke on the Streets.

when the Germans Were Set Allewed to Smoke en the Streets.

There are many old time Germans who remember how strictly the law against public smoking used to be enforced. That the law is dead is one of the fruits of the revolution of 1848. The Berliners were the first Germans to smoke in public. Courage to do so came to them during the memorable days when they dictated laws to their king, Frederick William IV, the present kaiser's granduncie. As that monarch, while standing on the balcony of the Berlin castle, was commanded by the revolutionists to uncover before their dead "the mob," says a contemporary chronicler, "heaped the additional indignity upon him of puffing huge pipes in his presence"

The citizens stuck to their pipes and eigers during the following mouths, when the police and military dared not interfere with them on triding provocation. Afterward, when the tide had turned, an attempt was made to again enforce the law, but the people got so wrought up over the matter that the police dropped the persecutions. In March, 1849, the old law was repealed.

As it happened liberty to smoke everywhere except in church and in the theater was one of the few results of the revolution that have never been interfered with by subsequent government acts.

Before the revolution disobedience to the antismoking law was punishable by a fine of 1 thaler. If a German passed a sentry box or a royal palace pipe in mouth, he was mulicted 5 thalers. The smoking of cigars in public was deemed particularly offensive, and judges frequently imposed an extra thaler on the person guilty of smoking such an article. In Germany the cigar came to be considered "the correct thing" only after the introduction of matches. It was easier to light a cigar than a pipe by the new fangled agency; hence the cigar increased in popularity and became gradually recognized as the superior of the pipe in a "social way."

But "liberty to smoke" is not yet universal in Germany or elsewhere. In Individuality is lost sight of in the sities. It is swallowed up, as it were, in the mob. In a village it stands out with surprising distinctnees. The odd characters of the place are known to everybody, and their quest sayings and doings are told from mouth to mouth.

In a certain little town not a great ways from Cleveland there are probably as many of these peculiar people as any place of its size can boast. One of them is an ancient man who longs for the good old times that followed the war and is a firm believer in the criminal weakness of the present financial system. He is a man of considerable property, but nevertheless is conomical to an extreme degree. In fact, he was never known to spand a penny that didn't go for some actual necessity.

There is another character in the town who keeps the village general store. He is a good hearted fellow, who, after a long course of hachelorhood, finally married. In this little town it is the custom for the happy bridegroom to ast up the cigars for all the congratulating males who drop is to wish aim joy. So the bridegroom in this instance had a box on the counter, and most of his patrons were regaled from it.

There he met the lawyers riding the circuit and formed the acquaintance of Judge Robbins of Springfield, with whom Judge Robbins of Springfield, with whom he studied law two years. Returning to Decasur, he began practicing in a town of 400 inhabitants. He soon became popular as a speaker. On one consion he was making a Whig speech en one side of the square, while a Democrat was making an opposition speech on the other side. The Democrat was fast gesting the crowd when Mr. Oglesby, who was an old fashioned fiddler and played as well as he spoke, borrowed a fiddle from a man in the crowd and began to play. That broke mp the opposition meeting, and the Democrat, left without an audience, came over and joined the crowd that was danoing to Oglesby's music.

Paris, July 24 .- M. Andre Leben, the 6x-Minister for the Colonies, who or-dered Captain Preyfus to be heavily ironed in his island prison, has at length condescended to explain his inhuman conduct, and a very lame explanation it is. M. Lebon's excuse is that "reparts were current that an American vessel was to be sent to assist Dapyfus to escape," and it was therefore necessary to take additional precautions to prevent this particularly as "one of his warders was not to be relied upon for the safe custody of the prisoner." In order, therefore to make additionally sure of his prisoner, M. Lebon ordered him to be kept in "double night irons" until such time as his misserable hut could be surrounded by a high palisade between which and the wall a sentry was to be stationed. With a humanity for which he apparently takes much credit, M. Lebon mectics and the removal of the irons when the palisade was completed.

Engineer Kerwiese Plans Inique Canal at

New York, July 24.-G. A. Karwiese was consulting engineer in the construction of the river canal, now pro ones to build a still more remarkable ship canal across the inthmus, between North and South America.

His plan is to tunnel through a moun-tain range. By this full-rigged ships with masts reaching up to 180 feet high could sail rightthrough themountain

The object of such a transmendous and unboard-of undertaking as this is to make the quickent possible cut through the isthmus connecting North and South America.

A week ago this plan of Mr. Karwiese was submitted to Admiral Time While Viewing Bleyele Races-The Walker, of the Nicarigus, Canal Commission who will brings it before President McKinley when representing reports on canal surveys.

The proposed Nicaragua Canal, which the United States Government has had repeated surveys made for, will have to he 160 miles long.

Engineer harwiese's proposed canal would be but 11 miles long. Only one a tunnel through the mountain. The other nine miles would be simply the onlarging of the existing waterways leading to the Atlantic and Pacific.

The interior of the ship tunnel could be lighted by electricity, and motor onergy supplied by electrical power transformed from the tides by chines specially constructed for that garpose. Such a machine already ex-

What Uncle Bill Wanted the News paper Publisher to Do.

A number of newstaper men were exchanging reminiscences a few days ago in a Court street inn. One of them, by the way, was an ex-publisher—that is to say, be once owned and edited a paper in the upper section of the state. One of his subscribers was William Makepeace Thackers Willington, whose neighbors called him 'Uncle Bill' to save time and labor. "One day Uncle Bill walked into my office," said the former publisher. "He placed his whip in a chruer and removed.

"One day Uncle Bill walked into my office," said the former publisher. "He placed his whip in a chriser and removed his bat. He saked if I was the cilitor. I pleaded guilty. "Shake," said he. 'I am glad to know ye. When I was a young felier, I used to do some writin myself." "Uncle Bill lapsed into altenos and did some solid thinking for several minates. Then he resumed the conversation. He said he liked the appearance of The Banner of Freedom mighty well and hoped it was not only bringing me fame, but money also. Naturally my bosom welled with pride. The old man said he had only a few minutes to spare, and, before leava few minutes to spare, and, before leaving, he wished to ask a favor. I supposed that he was about to spring a little poem which he had dashed off all by himself, but that wasn't the case. Uncle Bill mid:

Now, mind, I don't want you to do this for nothin. I'm willin to pay for it. Here's the money, and if that isn't enough let me know when my sub-

"Next to the art of living justly and kindly with our fellows comes the art of maintaining a life of happiness and tranquillity," writes the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis of "The Secrets of a Happy Life" in The Ladies' Home Journal, "for the soul was made for joy and good cheer. Life is a solool; labor and sorrow, victory and defeat toil together as tenchers, but happiness is life's aim and graduating point. Next to the duty of self denial comes the duty of delight. What ripeness is to an orange, what song is to the lark, what culture and refinement are to the intellect, that happiness is to the soul. As vulgarity and ignorance betoken a neglected mind, so unhappiness and misery proclaim the neglected heart.

"The normal nature will keep strong and fresh the chords that whoste joy. Depression and worry take the nerve out of man's arm, take the keen edge from his mind, not life of its victory, for unhappiness wine no battles, gloom invents nation, wretchedness writes no drama. Earth's great achievements represent those whose hearts mang over the tasks. To meet etorm with calm, defeat with faith, ingratitude with charity, is not an easy thing. Nothing requires so much wisdom, practice and skill as learning how to live habitually above the distemperatures of life."

THE ENTREE AN ECONOMY.

Disser Proper.

In the French and Italian cuisins, where conomy is studied far more scientifically and thoroughly than in the English or American kitchen, the entre is not considered an extravagance. On the contrary, it is looked upon rather as an attractive conomy—like soup, which duils the ester's appetite so that he partakes less heartly of the more coutly meat courses that follow. On the continent the luncheon never begins, as with ns. with the chief dish of substantials. There is an introduction in the shape of a soup, or a dish of eggs, or of rice, or of mearons, or semolino prepared in appetizing mode. Upon this the luncher tries the first edge of his appetite, so to speak. The piece de resistance comes afterward.

In the same manner, at dinner, the soup of his appetite, so to speak The piece de resistance comes afterward.

In the same manner, at dinner, the soup is almost invariably followed by one or two entrees. In the more ambitious menus these may consist of fish or poultry, or even of meas, prepared in croquettee or rissoles, or val-au-vent. If there are two entrees, the vegetable will come second. But when, as is the case at many tables, there is only one entree, this inearly always a vegetable and is served directly after the soup.

It must be borne in mind that the old fashioned custom which prevailed so generally some years ago in America, and is still to be found in certain places, of serving a number of vegetables with the principal meat dish is not followed on the continent. In England it is not susual to see half a dozen dishes of vegetables appear with the rosst. There they have even less idea of variety than is common with us, for precisely the same vegetables are offered day after day until one grows weary of the very sight of them. This, of course, is not the case among those people who have made a study of dinner giving and have grafted French customs on the British stock.

On the continent, however, things are done in a different fashion. At a simple

Ney letters or other papers were found on him. ble entree, the third meat of some kind, with one, or at the most two, vegetables, and one of them rarely falls to be a salad. Then comes a sweet, and after it fruit or cheese. The vegetable that appears as an entree need not of necessity be costly or unusual. Perhaps it is only a cauliflower, served with a good white succe, or spinach, not cooked as we see it here—the stems and leaves coarsely chopped—but minced to a powder and then put through a colander, so that it is deliciously smooth and soft before it is dressed with butter or cream and surrounded with three cornered bits of toast or friend bread, or the satres may be nothing more clegant than white turnips or young carrots out into instantly and preserves every tint and same to of sound. A most interesting mittee may be nothing more clegart than white turnips or young carrots sut into amall plucus, stewed tender and served with a cream sauce, or celery divided into three inch lengths, fried brown and seasoned with a tomato gravy. The name of the combination is legion, but they all have one point in common-that they comparatively inexpensive. - Harper's Be-

At the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in New York city, there is a great collection of ancient jewelry, much of it in gold richly adorred with precious stones. Jewelers in the metropolis frequently visit the museum for the purposes of obtaining suggestions. This collection at the Metropolitan museum is in fact the finest assemblage of antique objects of personal ornaments in existence. Some of them date as far back as 900 B. C. Those of them which are made of allver have been practically destroyed by oxidation, but the gold ones being cleaned are as bright and new looking as they were $,500 or $5,000 years ago. The jewelry from Cyprus is the work of ancient Phusnicians and Gresha.

One thing very noticeable is the frequency of tiny gold bottles attached to objects of jewelry derived from those ancient times. All evidence points to the onclusion that they were employed to hold poison, for in those days life was by no means secure, and at any time an emergency might arise where a man or woman would be glad to end existence promptly to escape lifelong imprisonments in describable torture by the horrible means used by the ancients.

Wees of Millionaires An English millionaire has just been adjudged incapable of looking after his property. He imagines himself the Prince of Wales.

Some years ago a rich merchant took the idea that he was pennilem. His sons, to stop his worrying, assured him they had rescued his business and was to con-tinue it. They offered him a clerkship at a small salary in his own office. He stock is and kept at work nearly 80 years. When he died, he left nearly $15,000,000.

Two English millionaires were noted for their parsimony. One picked up and smoked eigar ends. The other, after fine receptions in his house, would go around carefully collecting caudie ends to be used again. Neither of these men was insone Both were shrewed in business.

To the uninitiated an affection for a buildog seems a perversion of tasts, for the buildog is not symmetrical, is not graceful and sometimes appears to lack intelligence. About his intelligence, however, there is more than one opinion. About his affection and his loyalty there can be no doubt whatever. He affecties known mother heatestion, wavering se change, and he is loyal to the death. Then, again, he is a zero coursed. He is not notary, he not notary, he has not nervous, and he is not given to demonstration. He fills the requirements that Emerson formulated as to perfect chupmatenable. He does not need to speak to show his symmetry. He can tail you what he wishes to say with his little eyes, and he can be elequent with the waggings of his stumpy tail.

This kind of a companion is not such as commends himself to all persons, for these are those in the world who like chatterers and consider the uneading small taik of the drawing room the highest and room pleasurable expression of human wit. Fer such as these the buildog is not likely to have the greatest attractions. Let such have a frolleouse dog or a kitten that will chase its tail. But the buildog is a good companion for a quiet man of a thoughtful and philosophic east of mind. The buildog will not say the wrong thing at a time when effects is precious, for the buildog rarely eganks. When he does, he fit short, though not sharp, in his cognitumications and very much to the purposs.—Qeleggion.

Since the Grand Orange Lodge of his province has passed a law prohibiting those engaged in the liquor traffic ing those engaged in the liquor traffic to join the order, more applications have been received at several of the todges of this and neighboring counties for memberahip from liquor dealers than in any corresponding period for years. A LETTER FROM A BOSTON MINING ENGINEER.

To the Editor of the Times

Sir.-A friend has sent me a copy of Ont., containing an article extracted from your gaper on the minabins of the county of Peterborough. and as I was at one time through those districts and have some know ledge of their real value, I send you a tions which were conducted in that locality a number of years ago. Mr. W. Rogers, M.A., of the Mining School at Kingston, and of the Geological Survey, gave me an envitation one summer to accompany him on an "expedition" through those districts which are referred to in your article as being rich in important minerals.

In company with Mr. Rogers and asveral others, all well informed in mineralogy, I spent three months in Hastings and Feterborough counties, and from actual knowledges K can corroborate what you state in your article. Mr. Rogers and I were much impressed with the richness of the tarritory in mice and I remarked to him several times that I doubted if there were any districts in the States more rich in minerals than it was. I am pleased to see that the work in the minesy since my prospecting teur, has placed the matter beyond all question that toorth Peterborough is an extremely rich mineral tarritory. I may at a future time, write to you again on this sobject, but for the present would conclude by write to you again on this subject, but for the present would conclude by saying that it is indeed most remarkable that no railroud has been constructed to open up those districts to the world's markets. Your article makes a strong plea for such a means of communication between the mineral districts and same place from which of communication between the mineral districts and same place from which the mineral products could be sent to the outside world. It seems to me that the people of your part of the country are missing a grand opportunity by neglecting the construction of this much needed road.

Rhspectfully yours,

W. CLARKE, M. E.

American scientists state that the rateroillars which proved such nuisance to farmers a few weeks ago will be just as bothersome again shortly, not only to farmers but in parks of towns and cities. Come Canadian authorities assert that the peat will also be on again in this country. In view of this fact, the following from the Lindsay Post, is well worth reading— The farmers in the Catakill district (New York State) are rejoicing over the discovery of a means for southful a nest of catagopillars by which orchards are being destroyed. The cure is as simple as it is nove, but it is declared to be entirely effective. The discovery, like many others which have astonished the world, was the result of an accident. A woman belonging to the town of Catakill happened to blow a hum undermenth a tres, when ahe was surprised to see hundreds of steepillars fall from the boughs. She blew another blast, when there was another shower of the little creatures. She hastened to tell others how ahe had found out the way to fetch the she hastened to tell others how she had found out the way to fetch the peets off the trees, and whole sections of the people turned out with drume, bugies and white-pipes and every other noise-producing instrument in the town. The caterpillars, unable, it is declared, to resist the influence of the noise, continued to fall in showers on the ground and were raisely except. on the ground, and were rapialy swep-together for destruction.

Now there is no longer any propect of an agreement by the Joint High Commission concerning either the lumber question or anyl other of the number question or anyl other of the number of disputes relegated to the Commission. It seems apparent, therefore, that if the lumber interest is to secure railed it must be through the adoptions of a policy of retaliation that shall touch Canada in her most sensitive.

A PORT OF ENTRY.

The Inited States Proposal - An Offer to Compromise the Dispute,

Washington, July 25.—At teday's Ca binet meeting the main topic discuss-ed was the Alaskan boundary line dispute. Secretary Hay explained the status of the direct negotiations now in progress between himself and Mr. Tower, the British Charge, and said that he was not without hope—that this vexed problem would be solved by direct negotiation.

Great Britain now seems willing to consider the proposal of the United States to give Canada the privilege of a port of entry in the Dominior while retaining absolute sovereignty over the Lynn Canal, and it is around this sort of a proposition that the hope of a settlement now hovers.

The speeches of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Charles Tupper came up incidentally, but no serious aftention was given them.

dalivared, but their effect taken in connection with the declarations of Sir Charles Tupper and Premier Laurier has been to convince Administration officials that the situation in which the United States, Great Britain and Canada are rapidly becoming involved is one of much gravity.

Retaliation or the part of the United States by the imposition of a prohibitory duty on Canadian lumber could hardly fail to be followed promptly by the passage of measures presented by Sir Charles Tupper, providing for all-Canadian railroad to the Klondike and the restriction of miners' licenses in the Klondike Tegion to British subjects.

DOUD AIR IN MEDRING AND MIRGRRY,

An interesting article in the current issue of the Medical Record relates to the use of liquid air in medicine and surgery. It would be remarkable indeed, if this strange substance did not possess properties that would be of value to physicians and surgeons. In the article in question Dr. A. Camphell White of New York gives an ac count of a series of experiences he has seen conducting with liquid air. His first efforts were to discover the effect of the intense cold on cultures of anthray, diphtheria and typhoid bacilli and he found that even exposure of an hour and contact with the fluid it olf did not kill the germs. He will experiment further in this direction. As an anesthetic,, liquid air seems to be very satisfactory. Dr White appli with a sqray and with a swab and there was no pain in the application except at first, when a tingling An imsensation was experienced. portant advantage the substance has in this line is its prevention of hemorables the surgeons to get the fressings wound before hemorrhage sets fir. White cites an interesting case of a Lov who had shot the palm of one of his hands with a blank cartridge. 'The boy was extremely nerwrites the doctor, "but it was deemed necessary to make an incision and examine for a foreign body. The liquid air was applied to freely in this case, so that when an incision was altempted it was found that it was ible to incise the hand with the scalpel as it would have been to a cake of ice. After waiting about 30 seconds the operation was satisfactorily per-When the toy returned, in a few days, the wound was in a perfect condition." Dr. White also tells of two cares of facial ervsipelas which were treated by rolling a gissa builb filled with liquid air over the diseased The surface temperature, the

Some of these who were unsuccessful in foruring town contracts for the construction of granolithic walks, characterise the Star Chamber operations of the Council as a "ghostly piece business." That does not accur ately describe it, because even the spir it of the law in regard to fair play is not regarded.

When the Germans Were Not Allow of to Smoke on the Streets.

There are many old time Germans who semanter how strictly the law against public smoking used to be enforced. That the law is dead is one of the fruits of the revolution of 1848. The Berliners were the first Germans to smoke in public. Courage to do so came to them during the memorable days when they dictated laws to their king, i resterick William IV, the present kaiser's granduncle. As that monarch, while standing on the balcony of the Berlin castle, was commanded by the revolutionists to uncover before their dead "the mob," says a contemporary or the perim castle, was commanded by the revolutionists to uncover before their dead "the mob," says a contemporary chronicier, "heaped the additional indignity upon him of puffing huge pipes in his presence"

The citisens stuck to their pipes and cigars during the following months, when the police and military dared not interfere with them on triding provocation. Afterward, when the tide had turned, an attempt was made to again enforce the law, but the people got so wrought up over the matter that the police dropped the persecutions. In March, 1849, the old law was repealed. As it happened liberty to smoke everywhere except in church and in the theater was one of the few results of the revolution that have never been interfered with by subsequent government acts.

with by subsequent government acts.

Before the revolution disobedience to the antismoking law was punishable by a fine of I thaier. If a German passed a sentry box or a royal palace pipe in mouth, he was mulcted 5 thaiers. The smoking of cigars in public was deemed particularly offensive, and judges fre-quently imposed an extra thaler on the purson guilty of smoking such as article. In Germany the cigar came to be con-sidered "the convert thing" and sidered "the correct thing" only after the introduction of matches. It was easier to light a cigar than a pipe by the newfangled agency; hence the cigar increased in popularity and became gradually recognized as the superior of the pipe in "configurations". "social way."

But "liberty to smoke" is not yet universal in Germany or elsewhere. In Berlin, Musich and other capitals, including Vienna, army officers and soldiers are forbidden to smoke in the principal streets through which members of the royal family are liable to drive. If in other streets they see a royal carriage approaching, they must throw away their cigars.

Crosedile Tears

The expression "crecodile tears" can be found in almost every European language, but it is doubtful if one in a thousand of those who use it have an idea of its origin. We are taid in the Bestiary of Guillaume in Clere that when the crocodile finds an unwary travaler it devours him, but afterward we man come him all the ment of its life.

unwary traveler it devours him, but afterward weeps over him all the rest of its life. This is very evidently the allusion in "Othello," "Each drop she falls would prove a croosdile" (1, 337).

There is another version of the fable, however, which is more often referred to in literature, and according to which the croosdile sheds tears in order to allure the traveler to destruction. Shakespeare alludes to this in the passage where he tells how the mouraful ercoedile serrow eners releating passengers. —"2, Henry VI.," I, 208. —"Post's Libra."

Deceived by a Thread.

As we came in on a Big Four train from Delaware we noticed a well harbered and highly scented "young man of the period" compliancetily admiring a fine pair of patent leather shoes which were slevated en the sast in front of him. Finally he espied a thread on one of his shoes, and, seiring it, he gently drew it to him. It seewed to be quite long, so he wound around it his hid gleved hand. After gooding quite a kneet of it he found it was tase to his side, and, glaneling along his leg, he discovered that he had unraveled one man of his trousers leg, which hung in a loose flag. The last we mw of him he had berrowed two plus from the conductor and was retreating sidewise toward the smoking ear with horror and disquist plainly deploted on his seuntemant.—Othic flasts Jenumal.

HE TOOK NAILS.

It Was All the Same to the Man Who

Individuality is lost sight of in the cities. It is swallowed up, as it were, in the moh. In a village it stands out with surprising distinctness. The odd characters of the place are known to everybody, and their queer sayings and doings are told from mouth to mouth.

In a certain little town not a great ways from Cleveland there are probably as many of these pscullar people as any place of its sise can boast. One of them is an ancient man who longs for the good old times that followed the war and is a firm believer in the criminal weakness of the present financial system. He is a man of considerable property, but nevertheless is economical to an extreme degree. In fact, he was never known to spend a penny that didn't go for some actual necessity.

There is another character in the town who keeps the village general store. He is a good hearted fellow, who, after a long course of bachelorhood, finally married. In this little town is is the custom for the happy bridegroom to set up the cigars for all the congratulating males who drop in to wish him joy. So the bridegroom in this instance had a box on the country, and most of his patrons were regaled from it.

"Yep," said the storekeeper.

One day while the campaign was as its hettest a Democrat from an outlying township came to see me. He called me out from my store and took me into a back alley. I thought he wanted to borrow $5 or ask me to go on his note. Finally, when he got to a selected place, away from the crowd, the old fellow laid down his col pipe and said:

Bay, Bolton, I can't vote for you man, Stone."
"Why, Uncle Billy?' I inquired.
"'Well, they sell me, The, that Bill

"I looked the old man squarely in the eyes and never smiled and said, 'Now, Billy, you wouldn't vote against a mar for beating his wife—and you a married

"The, you don't best your wife,

"'The, yeu don't best your wife, en you?'
"'Well, I didn't think that of you, The. The, I like you, but I can't vote for your man, Stone.'
"'So we parted, and Uncle Billy went back to his home in the back township.

"And how de you stand on the Stone question now?"

"Well, I tell you, The. I have been thinking about what you told me, and it's all right. I'm a married man myusif, and I am going to vets for Stone."

"And he did," added Bolton, "and to this day believes Stone best his wife twice a weak, and their why Stone got his vote

Compating with a Piddle.

When a young man, she late catevaries Oglasby worked in the old Mason survers. There he met the lawyers riding the circuit and formed the acquaintance of Judge Robbins of Springfield, with whom he studied law two years. Returning to Desatur, he began preciting in a town of 600 inhabitants. He seen became popular as a speaker. On one occasion he was making a Whig speech on one dele of the quass, while a Democrat was making an opposition speech on the other side. The Democrat was fast getting the crowd when Mr. Oglesby, who was as old fashioned fiddler and played as well as he spoke, horrowed a fiddle from a man is the crowd and began to play. That broke my the opposition meeting, and the Democrat, left without an audience, came over and joined the crowd that was densing to Oglesby's music.

Engineer Kerwiese Plans I nique Canal at New York, July 24 .- G. A. Karwiene

the German engineering expert, who was consulting engineer in the construction of the Nuez canal, now proures to build a still more remarkable ship canal across the isthmus between North and South America.

TO JOIN THE GREAT OCEANS

His plan is to tunnel through a moun tain range. By this full-rigged ships with masts reaching up to 180 feet high could mil rightthrough themountain range four abreast.

The object of such a trenmendous and unboard-of undertaking sa this is to make the quickent possible cut through the inthmus connecting North and South America.

A week ago this plan of Mr. Karviese was submitted to Admiral Walker, of the Nicaragus Canal Comesion who will brings it before President McKinley when representing reports on canal surveys.

The proposed Nicaragua Canal, which the United States Government has had repeated surveys made for, will have to he 160 miles long.

Engineer Karwiene's proposed canal would be but 11 miles long. Only one and two-third miles a fthic would be a tunnel through the mountain. The other nine miles would be simply the enlarging of the existing waterways leading to the Atlantic and Pacific.

The interior of the ship tunnel could be lighted by electricity, and motor energy susplied by electrical power transfermed from the tides by ma-chines specially constructed for that purpose. Such a machine already exists, and has been patented.

brost, but who went back, refu-ing to eave the mine until bis father and brother A single lock at each terminus of canal contruction would ab-olutaly control the water level between th etwo oreans. These locks would, of course, be necessary to prevent a flood tide on one side of the isthmus from rushing through the artifical opening between the Continents. By this methols navigation through the isthmus is still water and on ocean level would be practically possible. No other plan urgested provides for an ocean level

Engineer Karwiese claims that such a canal could be built in two years fore $48,000,000. The lowest estimate for the Nicaragua Canal is $118,000,000 and five years time for construction. So great an undertaking as boring a hole through a mountain range big nough for ships to sail through would seem impossible were it suggested by any less authority than Mr. Karwiese.

it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you planes. Besides the Gunphophous affords wenderful entertaigment in the way of reproducing the music of hamds, or bestras or wond or intruminate aloints. No investment will return so much in planesses as the purchase of a Graphophous. It is the perfect talking machine. Write for catalogue No. 20 to the COLUMBEA PHONOGRAPH COMPANY, No. 318 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y. any less authority than Mr. Karwiese. According to surveys and estimates furnished by Mr. Karwiese, a ship tunnel canal can be completed through the lower inthunes of Panama between the Gulf of Darien and the bed of the Santa Maria River. This region is known as the Aputit Valley, and is crossed diametrically by the Cordillere range of mountains, which extensits throughout the length of the isthmus. connecting the Andes of South America with the Rocky Mountain system of the Northern Continent.

At their point of inter-ection with the Anust Valley Cordiellerus are steep and high, and almost solid work. Mr. Karwiese is ready to demonstrate to the Cunsi Commission the reacticability of cutting through this rock, not a canon, but a tunnel 180 feet high with 56 feet added for depth of water.

The annual cut by the mills is 800,000, therefore, the supply will last 800 years.

In the Memodoino county there is nearly nine times as much timber on an acre as in the acothern pineries. In Humboldt county, upon 96,448 acres, the average stand is 84,000 feet per acre, nearly 17
times as great as in the southern states.

There is one cause of destruction from which this tree is entirely exempt; that is firs. Containing no pitch, but, on the other hand, a large amount of water, it will not burn when green. No fire can run in a redwood forest. It is the only one of our coniferous lumber trees which is thus exempt.

Redwood is in almost universal use on the California coast. In the construction of houses little other timber is used, even as far south as Los Angeles and San Diego. It is exported as far south as Valparaiso and westward to Japan and Australia. Indeed, considering its cheapness, $14 per 1,000 feet in Eureka for the best, it seems strange that it has not found its way in quantity to the Atlantic object.
Officials it is that before many years redwood will supplant the now vanishing white pine in easern markets.—National

Our definition of this word is "secret agency," which makes it very applicable to Cottom seed. The skilful cook excercises a "secret agency." The same materials used by the average servant produce very different results under her mixing. So con-stant supervision by experi-enced bird-men accounts for the better general results obtained from Cottom Seed.

The Remarkable Bidding.

The bidding opened at $3-4c for a selection from Mr. Flavelle. which was hardly uttered before Wrighton called $7-8c. Fitzgerald raised to $c. From the way the bidding had been going on, it was thought by some bowers that there had been sales made off the board previous to the meeting, or that promises had been made to take effect after the adjournment of the Poard. Fenelon Falls and North Verulam factories were atrongly censured for thus making sales of the Roard, and the suggestion was made by a salesman that they be deharted from selling off the Board as lesson, but no such action was taken.

It was decided to hold the next sale on Monday, August 17th., at 10.30 a.m.

It seems probable that at a very early duy the greater part of the ford supply; of congested centres of population will be sold out of refrigeration. "But your face is not scarred? It would seem that an explosion"—

"An impending explosian it was. Two rears ago I was the most successful well shooter in America. I could make the old loosen up where others had failed. The secret lay in the explosives I employed. I made them myself and had the business down fine. At that time I went to New York to figure on a big blasting contract that would have made me a pile. I failed to make the arrangement, and the very day the negotiations fell through I started suddenly for England on a similar mission.

"The question brought me to my feet and caused an exclamation of horror teacupe from my lips. Mang explosives undergo a ripeving process, which adds greatly to their destructive power, at the same time decidedly increasing the danger of handling them. That made by me was this character. Indeed 28 days after it that compounded it was almost certain to spiplode of its own volition, so to speak. Now, on the upper shelf of the checkroom of my New York hotel I had left a large grip containing a 20 pound can of this compound, the ripening of which means destruction and death.

"For an hour I was almost in a state of freezy, freely denouncing myself as a multimurderer. In vain I drew an awful picture of the devastation that would overwhelm a certain New York hotel in exact hy 17 days and called upon the captain teput his ship about. He promised to transfer me to a west bound steamer if an opportunity presented itself, but fortune failed me, and I was obliged to cross the coam. On the morning of the twenty-fith day of the life of my ripening high explosive I sprang from a carriage and rushed into the hotel.

"No reprieved murderer ever expe-

"No reprieved murderer ever experienced greater joy than I did as I saw the last of the terrible fluid disappear in a catch basin. Ten minutes later I started back from the mirror of the hotel bar, where I had gone for a bracer, in absolute diamay. My jet black hair had turned white as snow."

VETERANS UNDER FIRE.

The Ressen They Don't Steep When the Bullets Are Flying.

The Reason They Den't Steep Whee the Butlets Are Flying.

'The temptation to stoop when under fire is almost irresistible," said a veteran. "and that accounts for se many of the wounds received by raw troops. You ea, when a man happens to be hit in a stoopling posture the chances are that the bullet plows right through his body from end to end. On the other hand, if he is standing erect, the probabilities are in favor of the wound being slight, anyhow net mortal. Old soldiers are well aware of this, and while they will drop flat and hunts cover every chance they get they never stoop.

"After a soldier has been in a few engagements he learns such tricks, and, as far as the rest of it is concerned, he becomes simply a families. There is nothing strange about it, for almest all his appertences appear to lend color to that dontrine. For instance, he never dedges, because he has seen mes dedge and get killed when it really seemed as if they had reached for the bullet. In fact, the strangest things are continually happening, all apparently the pure whim of chance.

It was in 1886, in Sam Francisco, and law was chaos; mob law was supreme. The judges were finally given warning that unless they enforced the laws they would be summarily dealt with—that is, they would be taken out and hanged to the nearest tree. It was a stirring time. The vigilance committee of San Francisco in this year was famous for its desperate deeth, but after its self assumed reign was over the morals of San Francisco increased amaxingly. It was almost a paradise on earth. Drunkards, cutthrosts, accoundreds and others of this lik gave the place wide room. They knew that if they were caught they would be hanged. Andrew J. "You see, it was like this: The men who rushed to the goldfields in the early days never expected to remain in the western country. Their purpose was to make their pile and get out. They came to Californit, sorambled for gold and paid no attention to law and order. It was a paradise for gamblers, thieves and cut-throats. The worst element, it seems, came to Frisco, where they were soon in possession of the city government and ordered millions and millions of dollars worth of improvements that were never made. But the contracts were let, in order to give boodlers a chance. Vice four ished like a green bay tree. It was a law-less, violent land, where life wasn't werth a pinch of snuff.

The ballot boxes were supposed to be of inch pine, rough pine boxes, with a little beading around the edge. The top was of inch stuff all right enough, but the bottom was hollow, of eight inch stuff. In this false bottom were placed snough votes to win the day for the gang's candidate. When the polls were closed, the little fire pot was brought into me and the unfavorable votes destroyed. t Dulla the Satur's Appetite For the

In the French and Italian cuisine, where economy is studied far more scientifically and thoroughly than in the English or American kitchen, the entree is not considered an extravagance. On the contrary, it is looked upon rather as an attractive economy—like soup, which duits the eater's appetite so that he partakes less heartily of the more costly meat courses that follow. On the continent the luncheon never begins, as with us, with the chief dish of substantials. There is an introduction in the shape of a soup, or a dish of eggs, os of rice, or of macaroni, or semolino propared in appetizing mode. Upon this the luncher tries the first edge of his appetite, so to speak. The piece de resistance comes afterward.

In the same manner, at dinner, the soup is almost invariably followed by one or two entress. In the more ambitious menus these may consist of fish or poultry, or even of mest, prepared in croquettes or riscoles, or val-au-vent. If there are two entrees, the vegetable will come second. But when, as is the case at many tables, there is only one entres, this is nearly always a vegetable and is served directly after the soup.

It must be borne in mind that the old fashioned custom which prevailed so generally some years ago in America, and is still to be found in certain places, of serving a number of vegetables with the principal mest dish is not followed on the continent. In England it is not unusual to see half a doson dishes of vegetables appear with the roast. There they have even less idea of variety than is common with us, for precisely the same vegetables appear with the roast. There they have even less idea of variety than is common with us, for precisely the same vegetables appear with the roast. At the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in New York city, there is a great collection of ancient jewelry, much of it in gold richly adorned with precious stones. Jewelers in the metropolis frequently visit the museum for the purpose of obtaining suggestions. This collection at the Metropolitan nuasum is in fact the filnest assemblage of antique objects of personal ornaments in existence. Some of them date as far hook as 900 B. O. Those of them which are made of silver have been practically destroyed by ordation, but the gold once being cleaned are as bright and new looking as they were 9,800 or 8,000 years ago. If Such a Union Becomes Established, the Probability is that the Trackmen and Engineers Would federate---A Very Powerful Organization.

Barrie, July 27.—The trackmen on this division do not take seriously the the cent raise to come and nothing to others. Trackmen call the es-called of-fer a trick of Mr. Hayer to get some entisfied and the rest dissatisfied, goal which they claim is the general manager's supreme desire to reach. They believe with credulity the Trackmen's Committee at Montreal will acupt no offer making fish of one and lask of another.

Secretary Lowe, in speaking here last week, said the trackmen resumed k on the understanding with krs. Hays and McGuigan that justice would be done. He was therefore magnine that there would be a uniform raise of fifteen cents, In any is improbable. The trackmen not ready for the strike even when they went out in May,

Steps are at present in progress to unite the Canadian and American track men's unions, the trainmen and engineces of the two countries having been united for sume years. The trackmen will then federate with the pagineers. A strike of the federated engineers and trackmen may then, be experted unless in the meentime the many has met the former's · 1岁 香度技

He understood that the Transvani was prepared to grant some autotantial redress, although quite inadequate according to Great Britain's atandard. It was manifestly impresible, Mr Balfour said, that Great Pritain should permanently submit to free-born Englishmen being treated as if of an inferior race. While he did not take a despairing view of the situation, it welld be folly to presend that all the difficulties had been solved, or to proclaim a peace which was not yet answered.

The Auctioneer Was Quick Witted and Finally Made a Sale.

An auctioneer on East Washington street—one of those redoutable individuals commonly terms d'alick"—was the cause of a farcical scene recently that would have done credit to a burlesque show. He had been talking industriously for a long time to a crowd of interested but enthusiantic listeners.

But the audience, while admitting with node of approval that they were good spools of thread displayed no marked inclination to become excited over them. Not a bid was offered.

"I'll sell 'em for 10 cents," suggested the auctioneer thindly. It was plain from the tone of his voice that he was losing faith in himself and in all the world. There were no takers. The man of the red flag added three more spools to the semicircle. ("All for 10 cents," he declared. But thread stock man of the red flag added three more spools to the semicircle, "All for 10 cents," he declared. But thread stock was far below par. The auctioneer caught up all the spools from the counter and flung them into the box with an impressive geture. The light of inspiration flashed from his eyes.

"The whole blamed box for 10 cents?"

he cried.

"I'll take it," was the prompt response, and a little man in a washed out overcost and wearer of red chin whiskers stapped out from the crowd with a dirty 10 cent piece in his upraised hand. The auctioneer clutched the money feverishly, and, turning the box upside down a that all the apools dropped into a basket on the counter, he handed the worthless piece of ancient pasteboard to the anxious counter. Do you know how to crisp lettuce leaves? A most simple process, but one rarely adopted, judging by the wilted stuff we generally see served. A gentle-man of the old school was my teacher, and while yet a mere maid I was pro-moted to the proud dignity of crisping the lettuce.

First carefully separate the leaves from the stalk, discarding discolored and imperfect ones and leaving untouched the tiny hearts; lay them all in coal, clear water for awhile, all morning if you choose; pick them over a couple of times before serving; wash one by one and lay in a wire basket if you have one; if not, a clean, soft towel will answer; gather the ends and sides loosely in your hand and lightly shake the lettuce; then put the leaves in a colunder, which you set in the refrigerator, but not on the ice. Leave until needed, when you will find the lettuce deliciously cool and crisp enough to crack. Never cut the leaves. If very large, divide with the fingers into smaller pieces.—What to Eat.

Wills all of us have heard in early childhood of the tales of magical mirrors, in such things have been relegated by most of us to the region of the imagination. We might be classed as appropriately belonging to the time of Aladdin and the wenderful lamp.

ing to the time of Aladdin and the wenderful lamp.

This strange acquisition, is a mirror which came from India, and in which one can see the events which the future will bring forth. That such is its power is attacked by some of the best known gentionen of the city, who, for obvious reasons, to not wish their names to be mentioned.

This mirror came into the possession first of a Washington lady who was traveling in India, and, being interested in the religion of the country, took a trip to the famous temple of Alora, which lies in a rooky side of the foothills of the Himalaya mountains. This temple is now but a rule of jagged rooks, jutting out harshly into the soft greensward that rolls smoothly down into the valley below. Above tower the vast mountains with their gittering caps of snow looking down on the passeful tropical some where for agus the fellowers of Brahma have performed their suring of the temple stand open to

The ruine of the temple stand open to the weather, and its ancient glory, which shope is such uplendor before the English came to India, is now diminished. But a small band of Brahman monks still hept the sacred secrets and our-mondes alive. Few Europeans ever pensurate this section of the mountains, but the Washington lady mounted and visited the monastery. While there she managed to secure possession of one of the mirrors made by the monks and reputed to possess wonderful properties

The lady brought the mirror with he tleman who takes great interest in such musters, but who would not like the fact of the existence of the mirror in his house to be known, as its would attract thou-ands of seekers after the curious. paring quite a large sum for the glass the mirror was brought home and put to the test.

The mirror is eval in shaps, about a foot long and is surrounded by a wooden frame two inches in width and painted a dark green. The back of the glass is consed with asphaltum and then covered with dark linen, so that the whole has the appearance of a luserous opal. The method of use is by sitting with the mirror is one's lap and holding the glass as that there is no reflection of other objects shining on the surface of the glass. If the test is a success, there will appear in about a quarter of an hour a thin, cloudy mist, which will slowly float over the surface, and then the images of future events will be mirrored in the essentiagly fathousies depth of the dark glass.

The gunthessan who owns the mirrer has sever been himself successful in eseing anything, but a friend of his, a prominent judge and a thirty-third degree blasso, had a remarkable experience. He placed the mirror in his lep, and, after half an hour, a mist floated ever the surface; then he saw reflected in the glam a picture of a coffin, within which was the still, white face of a dead man. At first glance the features essented those of the gazer, but en looking closely its was esen that they represent exactly the brother of the gentleman—a man then in parfect health. In a second the picture shifted, and another face—that of a friend—appeared within the eides of the coffin. Cars Are Running.

That the presence of the force of militia now doing service in this city had already had a most salutary offect upon the lawless element was avidenced this natming by the fart that the obstructions placed upon the trucks of the big consolidated street car lines during the night were found to be fewer than at any time since the present strike was mangurated. This morning practically the full quota of cars were running on all lines exof cars were running on all lines exout the Apbey, Union and Clark avenus divisions. A GREAT POKER GAME IT MIGHT HAVE BROUGHT ABOUT AN

The Victim Was the Samoan King Malieton and the Victor an American Naval Officer - The Jack Pot That Caused the Trouble.

"There was a stiff game of poker played by a paymanter in the navy with King Maileton several years ago. I guess this was about the healthiest game ever in-dulged in by a foreigner. Maileton had heard of the great games played by Kaldulged in by a foreigner. Malietoa had heard of the great games played by Kalakana, king of Hawaii, and the Samoan thought he'd like to take a little brush on this line. Well, Malietoa's opportunity to test his belief came one day when an American man-of-war-wever mind which one—sailed into the harbor at Apia. His determination to take the thirty-second degree in the mysteries of the great American game was satisfied to the fullest extent. Among the officers aboard the man-of-war were a paymaster, a lieutenant and an asistant engineer, who had burned the midnight lamp studying poker at Anapolis and had prosecuted the study in season and out of season ever unce they left that place. In a word, they were all three just about as smooth poker players as you could fad in a month's travel.

"There was a trader among the white residents of Apia who was known to come to the front with a pretty stiff game, and Malietoa soon arranged through him a game with the efficers. By invitation and appointment the king and his friends met the officers in the private pariors of a European, and before the evening was half gone Malietoa requested that the limit, a small one, be taken off. The old codger had won several pretty fair jack pots and felt his importance and ability to clean up the whole crowd. Off the limit came, and for several hours Malietoa had almost pneumenal luck, winning jack pot after juck pot. The more he won the more reckless he became, and when something was said about closing down he entered a large and emphatic protest. The game proceeded, and the healthlest fack pot of the night was on the table.

"Several hands had been dealt around without any one having expressed his a large and emphatic protest. The game proceeded, and the healthest jack pot of the night was on the table.

"Several hands had been dealt around without any one having expressed his ability to open the pot, when the king, with a look of surprise and a smile of pleasure and triumph combined, announced that he would open it $20 worth. Every player staid. The paymaster drew three cards, the lieutenant the same number, the assistant engineer took two and the trader one. Maileton showed his brood by standing out and putting $10 more into the pot. The paymaster asw this and raised him $25, while the ethers staid. Then the king raised again, and the paymaster threw in $25 more. It was becoming too interesting for the other pinyers, and they dropped out. After the king's last raise the paymaster hesitated a moment, put his cigar to one side and shoved $50 to the middle of the makey-any.

a moment, put his cigar to one side and shoved $50 to the middle of the mahogany.

"The king put up the equivalent in Chilean silver dollars, the currency of the islands, and, drawing a small sack from his pecket, emptied its contents before him and excitedly placed in the pot the funds of the royal treasury of famos, amounting to $70 in silver. The paymaster's face grew serious, and he looked at his reyal opponent in a hesitating, pussied sort of way. Could this be a Samoan Ah Sin he had run against? Had this kingly copper colored sen of a gun learned the art of poker playing from visiting traders years before and had be been playing possum all the evening? Having six or seven months' pay in his inside pocket, the paymaster decided to chance some of it in finding out. "After a few moments of undecision he drew $579 in gold and silver from his pocket and added it to the pot, which now covered the table. Malleton gave a gasp and called for a glass of kava to steady his nerves. This he guiped down and announced that he was cut of funds, requesting at the same time that the paymaster take his word for $500, but there was nary a take, the paymaster only amiling and looking fixedly at the pot. Then the excited monarch offered to put up the island of Manoso, one of the finest in the Samoan group, against the $500. To this the paymaster consented, and a transfer deed of the property, duly algued, attented by the trader, whe was a notary public, and witnessed by the other? two officers, was put in the pot. Then the king called the paymaster, who slowly laid down four aces and a five spot.

With a leek of herror and a famean will of deen it his minus of the paymaster, who slowly laid deen four aces and a five spot.

President Velicity has no intention of I lieving the Officer in the Philippines.

Washington, July 26 .- The dent has no intention of relieving General Otic from the military command in the Philippines. He had seriously thought at one time of assigning an officer of high rank to command the for each the field, leaving General Otis to jericom the administrative ducies of governer-general. The President had two propositions before him, one to make Lawton the commanding officer of the fighting forces and the other to send Merritt tack to his old place. The latter easignment would mean the subordination of General Otis as governor-general to General Otis as governor-general to General Merritt, who contrants him by regular as well as volunteer title. They Keep Neving.

The religion of a Bedouin tribe seems to be to "more onward." Having once begun the nomado life, it becomes almost measurery for them to keep it up. In the first place, they don't grant to settle down, and they wouldn't have any place to stop if they wanted to. Sometimes it becomes expedient that they make great heete in these long journeys. Wandering around ever the plains are other tribus whose only eccupation is "moving on." There is frequently ensuits between two of these Arabian families, and should one pursue the other is behoves the pursued to hasten enward with all the speed their animals are espable of. Or it may be that the springs of water are so widely espansed that hard travel is necessary to make the distance from one to the other in a day.

When either of these contingencies arises, they cook and eat; while on the march. They don't est much. Two or three dinners such as American boys and girls are used to every day and something extra for Sundays and company are supposed not to agree with Bedouin children's stumenth. ment prevailed until it became known that the hundreds of lasts and officers on board the Charence had been saved by the ferry boats Mersey and Firefly, which quickly made fast to the burning vessel and began pumping water upon the flames.

The boys on board the Clarence worked with the utmost discipline until they ware forced to leave the help with the officers. The captain's family and Bishop Whitside, who apent the night on board the Clarence, lost their personal affects. The crew of the Mersey had a narrow secape, having barely time to regain their own craft, which had the utmost difficulty in getting clear of the burning vessel when the bulwarks of the Marsey were beginning to take fire. Three hours after the fire was discovered the Clarence's back broke and she settled slowly.

This was the second Catholic reformatory ship of the same asme that burned, on the Mersey river. Her predecessor was fired by boys aboard of her.

18 Was All the Same to the Man Who Congregation in Opposition to Rev. Mr. P.ch.

Individuality is lost sight of in the cities. It is swallowed up, as it were in the mob. In a village it stands our with surprising distinctions. The odd characters of the place are known to everybedy and their queer sayings and doings are said from mouth to mouth.

In a certain little town not a great ways from Cleveland there are probably as many of these peculiar people as any place of its size can boast. One of them is an ancient man who longs for the good did times that followed the war and is a firm believer in the criminal weakness of the present financial system. He is a man of considerable property, but nevertheless is economical to an extreme degree. In fact, he was never known to spend a penny that didn't go for some actual necessity.

There is another character in the town who keeps the village general store. He is a good bearted fellow, who, after a long course of bachlorhood, finally married. In this little town it is the custom for the happy bridegreeing to set up the eigars for all the congratulating males who drop in to wish him joy. So the bridegroom in this instance had a box out the counter, and most of his patrons were regaled from it.

HE VOTED FOR STONE.

And For One of the Most Remarka-ble Reasons on Record.

Theodore Bolgon of Henry county tells this good story. "I was a strong Stone man," said Bolcon, "when the cargor error was a candidate for governor. One day while the campaign was at its hottest."

With reference to this ats emment day while the campaign was at its hortest a Democrat from an outlying township came to see me. He called me out from my store and took me into a back alley. I thought he wanted to borrow $5 or ask me to go on his note. Finally, when he got to a selected place, away from the crowd, the old fellow laid down his cob mine and said: pipe and mid:
"'Say, Bolton, I can's vote for your man, Stone."

Campaigning With a Fiddle.

Campaigning With a Fiddle,
When a young man, the late ex-Govern or Oglashy worked in the old Macon tavern. There he met the lawyers riding the circuit and formed the acquaintance of Judge Robbins of Springfeld, with whom he studied law two years. Returning to Decatur, he began practicing in a town of 400 inhabitants. He soon became popular as a speaker. On one occasion he was making a Whig speech on one side of the square, while a Pennocrat was making an opposition speech on the other side. The Democrat was fast getting the crowd when Mr. Oglesby, who was an old fashioned fiddler and played as well as he spoke, borrowed a fiddle from a man in the crowd and began to play. That broke up the opposition meeting, and the Democrat, left without an audience, came over
and joined the crowd that was dancing to Oglesby's music.

Deceived by a Thread.

As we came in on a Big Four train from Delaware we noticed a well barbered and highly scented "young man of the period" complacently admiring a fine pair of patent leather shoes which were elevated on the seat in front of him. Finally he expled a thread on one of his shoes, and, seizing it, he gently drew is to him. It seemed to be quite leng, so he wound around it his hid gloved hand. After genting quite a knot of it he found it was fast to his side, and, glancing along his leg, he discovered that he had unrayeled one seam of his trousers leg, which hung in a loss flap. The last we saw of him he had herrowed two pins from the conductor and was retreating sidewise toward the smoking our with horrer and diagnet plainly depicted on his esuptemanes.—Othe State Jeumal.

Good Workmanship,

The work on the artifical stone side-walks on Water St. is fast approaching completion and the ratepayers are to nerf in which the work has been done by the contractor Mr. R. Sheshy: A young men from Ottawa looking at the work stated that it was far superior to that done in that city, where prices are higher and expressed a wish that Mr. Sheeky could de seme of the side-walks there. It is bored that the contractor will have a chance on future contracts here.

AVERTS HANDLERS' STRIKE.

New York, July 28.—Through the efforts of Rev. Daniel J. Brady, assistant rector of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Jersey City, the threatened strike of the seven hundred freight handliers in the Jersey City yards of the Pennsylvania Stailroad was avartised, and the men continued at work. . According to the arrangement tween the men and John T. Weish, again of the company, the men were to want until one of cock Tuesday for the company's answer to their demand for an increase in pay of three cents an fluor. their of Police Murphy ordered out all of the reserves, and two handred policemen were lined up in the freight yards, and all the entrances were closely guarded. Their services were not needed, however.

The men quit work at noon for the dinnar hour and sat in g. outs about the yard. It was at this time that Faher Hrady appeared. He went among the men, talking to each group for a moment. He was known personally to nearly all, for most of the men belong to his parial. With him was Thomas F. Coaroy, a fabor leader, who was known to be in close sympathy with him. Father Brady then went to Mr. Weish's ottice. During his absence Mr. Coaroy mads a speech to the men, actions gasinst a strike.

The men then formed in fine and marched to the office, where Father Brady and Mr. Weish were awaiting them. The latter spoke first.

"If aid this matter before the officers of the company," said be, "and they were unable to give me a decided ancewer. I hope, however, you will all go back to work and hope you will profit by what Father Brady has to say on the subject."

Father Brady: "Strikes are drastic and questionable means of remedying the evils which beset you laboring men. Strikes ferment passion of the gravest kind. They encourage blasphemy and incomperance. They inflict upon the laboring man a position of enforced idlences, during which his mind is clouded by anger. Worse than all strikes cause overty and turn happy homes into hou es of wailing and misery. Now, I may, appoint a committee from among your number. Go to the company and state your cause. Tell them your griev ances, You will gain much more in that way than you could by striking.

Copper Shares.

Safest Investment, Largest Dividends,

A portion of the full paid and non-assessable capital stock of the Boston & Texas-Copper Company is offered for sale at Five Dollars per share (par $10 fer Treasury purposes), and is recommended as a cafe and highly promising investment.

The company controls twelve thousand sores of rich copper land in Rotth Texas which is also valuable for farming and town site purposes. The tract is some 10 miles long and about three miles wide. It is equivalent in size to five hundred ordi-

The property has been developed sufficiently to begin producing at once, large amounts of the richest copper ere (46 to 70 per cent.) taken out and marketed, and inexhaustible quantities of copper mari and clay running from 3 to 15 per cent, copper found. (Calumet and Hocla and other great dividend payers are working on 1 to 3 per cent. ore.)

The property is within 13 miles of a railroad and fuel and water are available.

The cree and mari are on the surface and a few feet down, and can be mixed and converted into copper chasper than any other deposits in America. Copper will be preduced on the ground and a plant of moderate cost will treat 300 to 800 tone of ore and material per day, and according to engineers' estimates earn $3,000 to $5,000 per day not, with copper at 15 cts per pound. It is now 18 cts. per pound.

The property has a historical reputation and a record in the State Geological Reports. It has been examined and reported upon by the highest engineering, geological and expert authorities, and its merit and value are established beyond all question. It is not an experiment, nor its value speculative, they are proven and demonstrated.

From Report of Prof. Wm. DaRyes, former State Chem "Such numerous outcoppe of copper ore have been traced over the summit and sides of those hills that out of 12,000 acres of land which the company own, hardly a 100 sers trust should be found without ore upon the surface.

A cross-out to the depth of 15 feet was made upon the labeli lead, and ter hours' work resulted in the raising of 6,000 lbs. of rich copper ore, averaging about 60 per cent. of copper. (Worth $360, net.) It is easily smelted and the strate in which it is found can also be more economically excavated than other in which copper ores ec-

From Report of Pref. W. F. Commins, former Geologist of Texas.

• • "In order that I might see the condition of this lode after this amount of work had been done, I employed a few hands and cleaned out the tunnels when I found a lode of copper. This is the disniphate of copper and will yield as high as 70 per cent. of copper. I drove the tunnel twenty feet further into the hill, following the lode. When I had gone about twelve feet I struck another lode of copper eighteen inches east and six inches below the second lode. In three feet more we struck another lode below the second lode. Immediately below the lower sandstone is a stratum of capriferous mari schists extending the sutire width of the tunnel, say four feet, and is probably much wider. This marl will yield

From Report of Prof. Gustave Westman, Mining Engineer. "I beg to express my entire satisfaction with and confidence in the repo-made by Prof. W. F. Cummins.

I only had to remove one foot of earth from the surface on the three spots washing, this clay was found to contain 15 per cent. of copper ore of same value as above. These ores could of course be taken out and made available at a relatively small expense.

The capriferous mari situated below the sandstone, containing 15 per cont. of copper, can be estimated worth at the place at least $10.00 per ten, not."

From Report of George F. Rendall, Mining Engineer.

"It is a self-evident fact deducible from every report that on this propertiarge bodies of copper ore exists and that hundreds of toos have been shipped of

That a deposit of this nature can at a very small expense be made to yield handsome profits, from all existing reports, appears not only likely but certain."

Prote Report of Francis Arthur Reall, Superintendent.

"This property is all right and there is all the copper you want here. I think it is the best in Texas and it seems to have been selected as such for copper. It is near the top of a water shed and the hills crop out here. I think there is oil here because there is coal. Oil has been found at Cornicans. The property is adapted to general farming purposes which steems to be very profitable here and a town could be laid out on it and a railread built to Dundee, 19 miles, to great advantage." The Great Boom in Copper Sheres

Copper mining has proved the safest and most profitable industry in America, and the largest and most concervative capitalists in the world have recently become large investors in copper stocks.

This company can produce copper as cheaply as any in the world. It is capi talined the lowest of any in proportion to its screege, and at the price of copperbearing land in Michigan ($400 per acre) containing a much less per cent. of copper, has a large value in excess of its low capitalization ($2,800,000.)

FROM REPORT OF T. BURTON EVERETT, MINING ENGINEER AND EXPERT.

Hor. Refer H. Low, President, and others, Boston, Mass.: * * Gestiemen:—There is abundant evidence of rich copper deposits, not only at the mines already opened, but at various other parts of the property, and it is my opinion that this will prove to be one of the exceptionally rich copper-bearing fields of the United States, * The ores found in these deposits are immensely rich in copper values and the exceptionally rich are also found here in immense beds, while not as rich, will andoabtedly preve of great value on account of the chespanes with which they can be mined and reduced.

The mines are accreatible at every joint; the cost of mining will be very small, as the ere is not in hard formation; and there is no deep work.

I have examined the various reports made by where, and coemfirm them.

* As far as I have been able to investigate, and I have done so carefully, I am of the opinion it is one of the richest copper fields in the country.

T. BURTON EVERETT, M. E.

Mr. G. H. Savage, Mine Examiner of Butte, Mostana, after gaining sample of ore from the property, says: "The ore is the sichest in the country. If you have the field you can pay $1,000,000 dividends per year."

Major F. M. Spaniding, of Boston, and C. F. Croeby, Ecq., of Lowell, Mass., who returned June 16th from an examination of the property on behalf of the Company's etockholders and intending investors, report that they found the property as represented and confirm the expert reports. They visited and examined the nine misses and explored the entire property.

The Company is thereughly organized with substantial business men in the management. It has such extensive acrongs of land copper, and so easily and chappy mined and converted, that dividends can be earned and pull during the current year. New is the time to sale and profitable investment, and those who take advantage of this opportunity to buy stack at the low price effered will resp the beneft. Remit by P. O. Order, Registered Letter, Check or Express to Edward B. Robins, Treasurer, Tremont Building, Boston, Mass. Price $5.00 per Share, Subject to advance.

ft Dulle the Bater's Appetite For the

In the French and Italian cuisine, where economy is studied far more acientifically and thoroughly than in the English or American hisbon, the entree is not considered an extravaganca. On the contrary, its leoked upon rather as an attractive economy—like soup, which dails the enter's appetite so that he partakes tess heartily of the more costly meas sources that follow. On the continent the luncheon never begins, as with us, with the chief dish of substantials. There is an introduction in the shape of a soup, or a dish of eggs, or of rice, or of mecanoni, or semoline prepared in appetiting mode. Upon this the luncher tries the first edge of his appetite, no to speak. The piece de resistance comes afterward.

In the same manner, at dinner, the coup is almost invariably fallowed by one or two entrees. In the more ambitions ments these may consist of fish or peulity, or even of meat, prepared in croquettes or risoles, or val au-vent. If there are two entrees, the vegetable will come smooth. But when, as is the case at many hables, there is only one entree, this is mearly always a vegetable and is cerved directly after the soup.

It must be borne in mind that the eld fashioned conton which prevailed as generally some years ago in America, and is serving a number of vegetables with the principal ment dish is not followed on the continent. In England it is not unusual to see half a doesn dishes of vegetables appear with the roast. There they have even less idea of variety than is common with us, for precisely the same vegetables are offered day after day until one grows weary of the very sight of them. This, of bourse, is not the case among those people whe have made a study of dinner, coltaining, let us any, fee heares, the first will be soup, the second a theystable, and one of them rarely falls to be a said. Then comes a very falls to be a contred by so force of the more of second with a cream sato, or eakery divided into three fine his of the or the same of the order and served with a cream ento, or eakery divide

At the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in New York city, there is a great collection of ancient jewelry, much of it in gold richly adorned with precious stones. Jewelers in the metropolis frequently visit the museum for the purpose of obtaining suggestions. This collection at the Metropolitan museum is in fact the finest amenablase of antique objects of personal ornaments in existence. Some of them date as far back as 900 B. C. Those of them which are made of aliver have been practically destroyed by oxidation, but the gold once being cleaned are as bright and new looking as they were $,500 or 8,500 pears ago. LIBERAL OPPOSITION.

The Government's Action Evokes Varying Criticisim in London.

The Liberale Inclined to Regard It as Another Instance of fullsbury's Tondency to Shake Every Difficulty by Rofe

London, July 29 .- The Marquis of Salisbury having at last broken silence on the Transvani question is so decided a manner, it may be expected that President Kruger will hardly be like-ly to refuse to listen to the Government's new proposal for a joint mission to examine the franchis bill. This proposal meets varying criticism here. Liberals are inclined to regard it as anoth instance of the incurable tendency of the Salisbury Govern ment to shelve every difficulty by referring it to a commission. M: bou hiere calts a dimbdown o i Chamberlain's part, and undoubtedly it savors more of Falisbury than fof chamberlain. Others think it a conemion to the Transvanl's contention that the matter should be referred to that the mattur abould be referred to arbitration. All agree, however, that it forms a practical bridge of which Kruzer can avail himself to retire from an impossible position. Mr. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasuty and Government leader in the Hruse of Commons, gave another strong hint in the Commons; yetterday announcing in reply to a question, that in the unfortunate event of war there was no intention to employ other than white troops.

A new turn-table of modern design, 61 fact long by 15 feet in width, is being arected at the G.T.R. shops it Brockville. It will rost on a circular foundation of brick. The northern wall of the brick, shop had to be taken out completely to enable the table to be worked and is being retained by a frame building that, will make the shop about four feet wider than it has been. The old turn-table used for so many years was not large enough to handle the large locomotives that the company are now having built.

AN OUTLANDER CRIEVANCE.

There are neually at least two sides to every question, and it is beginning to be perceived that the Transvaal question is one of the questions that have more than one side. For illustra-Included among the general Outlander grisvances in the Transmerchants why are British subjects. The Transvani art of 1885, to which British government amented, the right to assign "for sanitary purpures certain streets, wards, and ations for habitation to persons be longing to one of the aboriginal races of Asia. Including the so-called coolles, Arabs, Malaya, and Mohammedan anhiects of the Turkish empire." By various steps the doctrine has been evolved that British-Indian merchants. no matter how high their caste or social position in Buitish India are to be dealt with as indentured coolies, and to be removed to the slums outside Pretrock and Johannesburg on ani-tary grounds. Not content with forc-ing the Indian merchants to give up their dwelling-houses within Pretor is and Johannesburg, the Transvasi government forbade them even to have their places of business within the towns, thus practically destroying plaints have reached the British Colonial Office from the victime of this regulation, and also from property owners who have leased their property to British Indian tenants, and have suffered loss by their explusion The testimony of the landlords is to merchants are howing the most desirable of tenants, being peculiarly cleanly, sober, industrious and enter-

It was in-to this condit in of affairs that the young prince s, the daughter of the duke of Ken was introduced when she became he queen of Great Britain

In the more than sixty years which has e'apsed since that time, there have occurred many events which have rhad elory upon the reign of the queen. The British parliamentary ommittee on old age pensions arrived ecently at the detarmination to re-commend a pencion for five shillings weekly to all attaining the age of 65 years who have hever received poor relief. The proposal will naturally involve a heavy expense, generally estimated at £10,000,000 yearly, which, it is proposed will be divided between the perial exchequer and jocal resources. This in in accord with the scheme resulting from Charles Booth's conference with representatives of organis-ed labor, held at many indu trial centers last winter and spring.

There are rapid times and in some are disturbing to those who have mon-ey invested and who realize that any the'r troperty may appear. One of the questions just now is, how is the automobile going to affect steam and electrickroads. The result of the long-dis. tance automobile race in France is auggo tive. The course was 1,422 miles in length, and the average time of the winner was thirty-one and four lifths miles an hour. This, it should be under-tood, was over country roads and ! up hill and down date the route including an ascent of more than three thoussand feet. Horses, as a rule, are particularly ducile and so it is not surprising to find instances of friendship between them and smaller animals, occasionally the choice of their com-panions is not a little strange. Many are cases of mutual affection existing between horses and cats, the most famous being that between the Godolphin Arab and a black cat, which on the death of his equine friend refused to leave the body, and on be ing driven away retired to e hay-loft, refused food and died of a brohave concurred many events which have chad for you upon the reign of the queen. Dotails of the loss of the Bens expedition are told by passeagers. Out of a party of seventeen people who laft Port Townsend June 11, 1898, for Korz-basesound to prospect for quid only one survives, and that is Mrn. H. W. Bens. of Clay City, Ky. For twelve weeks she watched over her sick husband with no one to aid her, and when he died she was left entirely alone in the bleak wilderness. After walking nine miles she found a on-bin in which three Sabermeen were wintering. She became sick of sourcy, she was tenderly cared for and finally reached St. tenderly cared for and finally reached St. Michael's and took passage for San Francisco on the Bertha. We anchored several miles up the Selewick river. In August Andrew Moore, Frank Howen, Andrew Lsird, — Noble and three others went back, their prospecting having shown little or nothing. Dr. Better of Trenton, M. J., then joined the party and with the others remained on the vessel during the winter. Of their sad vessel during the winter. Of their sad fate I heve only recently been told. Mr. Bens built a boat, and he and I went some eighty miles up the Tagragawick river in search of gold. Here we found seven men, including Captain Hibbard, from the seamer Eckert. We creeted a cabin and Mr. Bens went back to the Elk for provisions. He was caught in a storm and for sixty hours was without food and shelter. This led to the sickness which caused his death. Captain Hibbard and his mean death. Do you know how to crisp lettuce leaves? A most simple process, but one rarely adopted judging by the wilted stuff we generally see served. A gentleman of the old school was my teacher, and while yet a more maid I was premoted to the proud dignity of crieping the lettuce.

Five care lily separate the leaven from the stalk. Carding discolored and imperiod came and leaving untesched the tiny hearts; iny them all in cool, clear water for awhile, all morning if you choose; pick them over a couple of times hefore serving; wash one by one and lay in a wire banket if you have one; if not, a clean, soft towel will answer; gather the ends and sides loosely in your hand and lightly shake the lettuce; then put the leaves in a colander, which you set in the refrigerator, but not on the loc. Leave until moded, when you will find the lettuce deliciously cool and criep enough to crack. Never cut the leaves. If very large, divide with the fingers into smaller pieces.—What to list.

Mr. E. Gus Porter, counsel. Ponton, was in town on Saturday and called at the Times office. He says that the only new matter in the Poston case is the appearance of Roach, on the mane. He has no doubt of the result, which will be the vindication of the innovence of his client of the fol-throming trial.

"How about Pontom's case against the bank for $50,000, which was dis-missed at the Cobourg assissas" ask-

"Oh, that's all right," replied Mr.
Porter. "Of course you understand that it was impossible for me to proceed with the case when called, and I hope to succeed in the Court of Appeal of setting the action of the court aside. He any case, we are

I will enter another action against the bands for heavy damages, basing on Poston's second arrest. The action which was dismissed was based on my client's first arrest.

She returns early thus morning. We heartly sympathize with our brother-turbers of the pencil in this matter, and from past experience can only suggest one way out of the difficulty in furnishing an interested public with the results of such star-chamber a rocedings, i.e.: "To sit upon the door steps of the council chamber complacently remoking one's pipe or otherwise passing away the time till council adourns, when one must buttonhole each representative of the municipality as he emerges from the building; in this way a to'arably accurate account of farceedings may be gleaned." It is true this method of acquiring the proceedings of municipal boards is not a very dignified one and is a waste of time and in most places totally uncalled for but it will at least demonstrate that the press are careful of the interests of a vublic whose legitimate rights in this matter their representatives wilfully ignore. Alse such meetings should have the courrage of their convictions irrespective of the elections.

Not one word too much was mid when Sir Charles Tupper, in the course of the discussion on that Pacific cable resolutions in the House of Commons the other evening, alfuded took Sandford Fleming as the author, and, from beginning to end, the principal promoter of the project. Sir Sandford had already done one man's tifework when he retired to private life after laying out the route of the Canadian Pacific Railway. In all probability hi will live to see the Pacinia cable, not only constructed, but in prolitable operation. Then, perhaps, he will teel attaining his utmost wish, that he might be allowed to depart in peace, Who knows, however, that . still other schemes for the benefit of mankind are not germinating in that tertile brain? For he is not a very old man yet.

Many of the honest frontier felk took these fights of fancy seriously, and drove Tabor nearly distracted by long letters of remonstrance, urging him to read up and get posted, so as not to disgrace the state.

"At the expiration of the senator's brief term he circulated an autograph album among his fellow members, and the incident tickled Field immensely. He save what purported to be a copy of the benut, forbidding exterior, the miner procession he was

President of Banque Ville Marie Accused of Fraud

A Warrant Has Been Applied for by Mr. A. Bermain, Q. C.

m in the city this me to the effect that Mr. William Weir, president and general manager ; of the Banque Ville Marie, had been placed under arrest in connection with sion of the institution; but inquiries in police circles resulted in denial of the rumor. It is true, however, that a warrant has been applied for by Mr. A. Germaine, Q.C., reprecenting a number of the depositors of the bank, on the ground that Mr.
Weir knew the bank implyest, yet kept on receiving deposits, which, it is claimed, constituted fraud. The application was taken en delibra by the

L. Patriq has been agitating for the appointment of a Government inspector to take charge of the bank's affairs, and this morning Mr. J. f. Tarte, of that journal, received the following telegraphic message from Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance—"If false returns were made that would afford ground for oriminal prosecution, but not for appointing an official to investigate." Mr. Weir stated in his evidence in court that the teller's books had not been inspected since January, and since that time monthly reports have been made to Government which must of necessity have been unitrustworthy, owing to the carelessness of the banks management in not having the books properly audited offener.

Referee John White called a draw. A majority of the 5,000 persons who peaked the autitorium of the ciub were of the opinion that the lad from the fesuthern city had made the better showing, but the cessest had been so fast and interesting that cheers alone greated the finish and the decision. Gans made the match to Fetriave lost inited. Three months ago on the name battle ground he list to McFadden in twenty-three rounds, owing to what he claimed to be his lack of condition. He was carefully prepared for his match, however, and came to the ring in perfect form and stronger than he has been for months. He made a much better showing and in the event of a decision favorable to him there could hardly have been a precent. McFadden, too, went in arcellent alaps, or he could not have withstood the punishment he received or railled in the almost semantional manner that he did.

As we came in on a Big Four train from Delaware we noticed a well barbored and highly seasond "young man of the partod" complessently admiring a fine pair of patent leather chees which were obvious on the case in frust of him. HE TOOK NAILS.

There is not be believed in the standards of the beautiful and the series of the place are known to everybody, and their queer sayings and doings are told from mouth to mouth.

In north-in little town net a great ways from Go-eland there are probably as many of these parallar people as any place of its size can beast. One of them is an ancient man who longs for the good old times that followed the war and is a firm believer in the criminal weakness of the present financial system. He is a man of considerable property, but nevertheless is accommodated to an extreme degree. In fact, he was never known to spend a panny that didn't go for some actual necessity. There is another character in the town who keeps the village general store. He is a good bearied fellow, who, after a long course of backelorhood, finally married. In this little town it is the constant for the happy bridegroors to set up the cigare for all the congratulating mails who drop is to wish him joy. So the bridegreem in this instance had a box on the counter, and most of his patrons were regaled from it.

Pretty econ the ancient gentleman first

"What's this for?" he asked.
"Been gettin married."
"Whot' You?"
"Yep. Ma."
"An yeu're standin treat, ch?"
"Yep, 'maid the storekeeper.
The old man pleked up a cigne.
"How much did these seagare cost ye, Ab?" he inquired.
"Oh," replied the storekeeper, "they cost me 'bout 4 cents. They're mickel cigner."

And he got them.—Cleveland Plain HE VOTED FOR STONE.

And For One of the Most Remarks ble Reasons on Record. Theodore Bolton of Henry county tells this good story. "I was a strong Stone man," said Bolton, "when the ex-governor was a candidate for governor. One day while the campaign was at its hestead a Democrat from an outlying township came to see me. He called ne out from my store and took me into a back alley. I thought he wanted to borrow $6 or ask me to go on his note. Finally, when he got to a selected place, away from the crowd, the old follow laid down his coh pipe and said:

This proposal meets varying criticism here. Liberals are inclined to regard it as anoth instance of the incurable tendency of the Salisbury Govern ment to shelve every difficulty by 16ferring it to a commission. Mr. Labouchiere calts a climbdown on Mr. Chamberlain's part, and undoubtedly it ravors more of Salisbury than of chamberlain. Others think it a concersion to the Transvasl's contention that the matter should be referred to that the matter should be referred to arbitration. All agree, however, that it forms a practical bridge of which Kruser can avail himself to retire from an impossible position. Mr. A. J. "Nitroglycerin, sir; high explosives ac-complished it," said a well dressed man with a youthful face and snow white hair to a chance acquaintance at the Great

"But your face is not scarred? It would seem that an explosion"—

"An impending explosion it was. Twe years age I was the most encocasful well shooter in America. I could make the oil leosen-up where others had falled. The secret lay in the explosives I employed. I made them myself and had the business down fine. At that time I went to New York to figure on a big blasting contrast that would have made me a pile. I falled to make the arrangement, and the very day the negotiations fell through I started suddenly for England on a similar mission.

to make the arrangement, and the very day the negotiations fell through I started souldedly for England en a similar mission.

"Is there such a thing as high explosive ripening" saked the Englishman I was accompanying on the second day of our voyage.

"The question brought me to my feet and caused an exclamation of horror to accept from my lips. Mang explosives underge a ripening process, which adde greatly to their destructive power, at the same time decidedly increasing the danger of handling them. That made by me was of this character. Indeed 25 days after it has compounded it was almost certain to explode of its own volition, so to speak. Now, on the upper shelf of the checkroom of my New York hotel I had left a large grip containing a 50 pound can of this compound, the ripening of which meant destruction and death.

"For an hour I was almost in a state of freany, freely denouncing myself as a multimurderer. In vain I drew an awful picture of the devestation thats would overwhelm a certain New York hotel in exactly 17 days and called upon the captain te pat his ship about. He promised to transfer me to a west bound steamer if an opportunity presented itself, but fortune falled me, and I was obliged to cross the comm. On the morning of the twenty-fith day of the life of my ripening high explosive I sprang from a carriage and reshed into the hotel.

"No reprieved murderer ever experienced greater joy than I did as I saw the last of the terrible fluid disappear in a catch basin. Ten minutes later I started back from the mirror of the hotel bar, where I had gone for a bracer, in a basolute dismay. My jet black hair had turned white an enov."

The Reason They Don't Steep When the Bullets Are Flying.

'The temptation to stoop when under wounds received by raw troops. You see, when a man happens to be hit in a stooping posture the chances are that the bullet wound being slight, anyhow not mortal.

Old soldiers are well aware of this, and while they will drop flat and bunt cover every chance they get they never stoop.

"After a coldier has been in a few engagements he learns such tricks, and, as

The program of the operations the American army in the Philippines cannot be a matter of unconcern to Canadians of humans sentiment. Next to a war, in which Great; Britain is cerned, Canadinas are interested in what befalls the troops of sche adjoining Republic. Up to the pre-out they -like the people of the United States -have accepted the comforting reports that have come from Manila at their face value, and they are consequently shocked to learn that there is no prement prospect of an early termination of hostilities except upon Aguinaldo"s terms. Was All the Same to the Man Who

Individuality is lost sight of in the citics. It is swalk wed up, as it were, in the mob. In a village it stands out with surprising distinctness. The odd characters of the place are known to everybody, and their quiber seyings and doings are told from mouth to mouth.

In a certain little town not a great ways from Cleveland there are probably as many of these peculiar people as any place ancient man whe longs for the good old times that followed the war and is a firm believer in the criminal weakness of the present financial system. He is a man of considerable property, but nevertheless is coonomical to an extreme degree. In fact, he was never known to apsend a peany that didn't go for some actual necessity.

There is another character in the town who keeps the village general store. He is a good hearted fellow, who, after a long course of bachelorhood, finally married.
In this little town it is the oustom for the happy bridegrooms to set up the olgars for all the congratulating males who drop in to wish him joy. So the bridegroom in this instance had a box on the counter, and most of his patrons were regaled from it.

When the Germans Were Het Allewe ed to Smoke on the Streets.
There are many id time Germans who remember how strictly the law against public smoking used to be enferced. That the law is deed in one of the fruits of the revelation of 1848. The Berliners were the first Germane to smoke in public. As that monarch, while standing on the balooup of the Berlin cistie. was commanded by the revolutionists a uncover before their dead "the mob," says a contemporary chronicle, "heaped the additional indignity upon him of suffing huge pipes in his presence."

The citizens stack to their pipes and agans during the following mouths, when the police and military dared not interfere with them on trifing provention. Afterward, when the tide had turned, an attempt was made to again enforce the law, but the people get so wrought up over the matter that the pelice dropped the persecutions. In March, 1869, the old law was reposaled.

As it happened liberty to smoke everywhere except in chick and in he theother was one of the formal the trevelette that have never hous interfered with by subsequent government nets.

Before the revealities disobelience to the antismoking law was punishable by a fine of 1 thaler. If a German passed a centry hear or a reyal palace pipe in mouth, he was mulcted 5 thalers. The emoking of cigars in public was deemed particularly offensive, and judges frequently imposed an extra thaler on the person guilty of smoking such an articial in Germany the cigar came to be considered "the correct thing" only after the latreduction of matches. It was easier to light a cigar than a pipe by the newfangled agoscy; hence the cigar increased in popularity and became gradually recognised as the experience of the pipe in a "wordal way."

To the uninitated an affection for a buildog seems a perversion of tasts, for the hulldog is not symm etrical, is not graceful and sometimes appears to lack intelligence. About his intelligence, however, there is more than one opinion. About his affection and his loyalty there can be no doubt whatever. His affection knows neither hesitation, wavering or change, and he is loyal to the death. Then, again, he is a rare comrade. He is not notary, he is not nervous, and he is not given to demonstration. He fills the requirements that Emerson formulated as to perfect companionable. He does not need to speak to show his sympathy. He can tall you what he wishes to say with his little eyes, and he same he some accommends himself to all persons, for there are those in the world who like chatteress and consider the unceding small talk of the drawing room the highest and most pleasurable expression of human wit. For such as these the buildog is not likely to have a frolizonme dog or a kitten that will chase its tail. The Austiencer Was Quick Witted and Finally Made a Sale.

As auctioneer on East Washingtor street—one of those redoubtable individuals commonly termed "slick"—was the cause of a farcical scene recently that would have done credit to a burlesque abow. He had been talking industreeted but enthusiantic listeners.

The affable auctionser conscientionally went through his repertory from beginality to each, but somehow the crowd dialing to end, but somehow the crowd dialing to end, but somehow the crowd dialing to end, but somehow the crowd dialinguage. Finally, with a dark look that hordered so despair, he grabbed up a well known pasteboard hatbox containing acount 50 spools of slik thread of different colors. With the grace of a conjure he extracted five out the spools, and, arraying them in a tempting semicircle on the counter, nan-anced that they were good apools of thread, displayed no marked hackanton to become excited over them.

Not a bid was offered.

"I'll sell 'em for 10 cents," suggested the auctioneer timidity. It was plain from the tone of his voice that he was losing faith in himself and in all the ward. There were no takers. The man of the red fing added three mere apools to the semicircle. "All for 18 cents," he declared. But thread stock was far below par. The accitioneer caught up all the spools from the counter and flung them into the box with an impressive gesture. The light of is spiration flashed from the gree.

The whole blamed box for 10 cents!" he cried.

"I'll sell with core of red chis whishes and the special form the crew with a dirty 10 cent plece is his upraised hand. "The whole blamed box for 10 cents!" he cried.

"I'll take it," was the prempt response, and a little man in a washed out overcoat and wearer of red chin whishers stepped out from the crowd with a dirty 10 cent plece in his upraised hand. The auctioneer clutched the mency feverishly, and, turning the box upoids down so that all the spools dropped into a basket on the counter, he handed the werthless plece of ancient pasteboard to the anxious customer. A rear of hilarious laughter ross from the crowd that was heard throughout that neighborhood.

"I don't want your blamed old box!" walled the unfortunate purchaser.

"You said you'd take it," replied the auctioneer. "I'll leave it to the crowd—didn't he?"

"You said you'd take it," replied the auctioneer. "I'll leave it to the crowd-didn't he?"

"Yee!" came in a strong cherus from the delighted audience.

"I bought the apools?"

"No, you didn't! You bought the hea! I'll leave it to the crowd-didn't he?"

"Yee!" came the answer again, stronger than ever. The red whishered man stalked indignantly from the place with the box under his arm.

What you going to de with it?" yelled the crowd.

"That's what!" cried the speculator as he held the pasteboard box is both hands, football fashies, and hicked it vigorously into the middle of Washington street.

Memory plays quear antice at times. As our ideas of things develop and make progress the relation to cursaives, as we were of a remembered place or incident, keeps pace with the advance. When we were in youth, we thought the house in which we it will in those days a vertisable manifoliant of the yard was as a park now seems to us. Our memory keeps them thus, although we have long outgrown ear little selves.

But when we again visit the hannts of the early years we find that the mension has diminished to a cottage and the yard causes minerably small. We have outgrown them. There seems to be a self adjusting less that, as we fare farther from the senses and surroundings we once knew well, keeps magnifying them so that they are always the same to us.

And it must be so of incidents and people as well. Memory is kind and throve as mantle of softening mist over whatever comes into her realm. And when we go back and find the old selfationed we must not put all the blame of changing upon them. It has we have ally the perfect ones and issue loosely in your hand when we go back and find the old selfations when we go back and find the old selfations when we go back and find the old selfations when we go back and find the old selfations when we go back and find the old selfations when we go back and find the old selfations when we go back and find the old selfations when we go back and find the old selfations when we go back and find the old selfations when ye do not stop to realize the leaves in a colander, which you set in the refrigerator, but not on the leaves in a colander, which you set in the refrigerator, but not on the leaves in a colander, which you set in the refrigerator, but not on the leaves in a colander, which you set in the refrigerator. A CHARTED LIFE.

In a railroad accident the other day a man sustained ten complete fractures of the bones of the limba, three fractures of the pelvia, and a score of bruises, gashes and spraina, and yet he is recovering. Men and women sometimes withstand great physical violence, but succumb to the invisible germs of consumption—so small that they can be seen only under a powerful microscope. The starting point of consumption is in the stomach, which, when deranged, makes bad blood because digestion is not perfect, and in had blood the microbes multiply and flourish. Sooner or later the lungs are attacked, and in the weak spots the germs begin their deadly work of tearing down the tissues. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery stops the encroachments of consumption microbes. It builds up and fortifies the whole system by aiding the stomach in its many functions. It assist in the proper assimilation of food. This scientific remedy cures lingering coughs, bronchitis, bleeding at the lungs, and every other symptom that eventually leads to consumption. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., who makes this wonderful medicine, gives free, fatherly advice to all who write him.

The Linday Post speaks in severe tones of the practice so many people have of witnessing a baseball game without paying the fee, and it says that at the most game, the names of the "feece birth" will be taken down and published. The custom is prevalent here also, and the west superior of the matter is that many of those who view lacrome and haseball games from the outside are wall able to pay the price of admission. The contemptable practice is the that deserves severe condemnation.

ENGINEER TO REAR-ADMIRAL.

When war was declared with Spain his had sime to be fleet engineer with Admiral Dewey's aquad-ron. He was on the Olympia, at the Admiral's side, during the battle, and his promptitude was such that he was complimented afterwards by liewey. The commander declared, too, that the faultiess condition of the machinary throughout the fleet and the ax Roslicat management of Entwistle seere largely responsible for the wiping out of the Spandiards.

Demoy in Austria.

Admiral Dowey furthermore refer red in a very complimentary manner to Entwisted in a speech he made in Austria. He must have spoken at head INAPIETS as well, for it was not long after the great battle that a commis ion as captain arrived for Entwistle Captain Entwistle was near the age Peterson, N.J., with the expectation being retired. He is spending the summer at Lake George, and received no information of the action in his ne until a few days ego. Then he had a letter from Acting Secretary Allen, of the Navy Department, in Allen, of the Navy Department, in-terming him of his retirement under the provisions of the Personnel bill. The letter also informed Capt. En-turistic that he would hereafter have the rank and threequarters of the sea pays of a rear admiral.

Rear-Admiral Entwistle will finish the summer at the lake, and thinks that he may afterwards be assigned to shore duty. He has just received a finefmedal of sort ordered by Congress for all the heroes of Manila.

Copper Shares.

Safest Investment, Largest Dividends.

A portion of the full paid and non-assessable capital stock of the Boston & Texas Copper Company is offered for cale at Five Dollars per share (par 610 for Treasury persess), and is recommended as a safe and highly promising investment.

The company controls twoive thousand acres of rich copper land in Horth Texas which is also valuable for farming and town site purposes. The tract is some 10 miles long and about three miles wide. It is equivalent in size to five hundred ordi-

The property has been developed sufficiently to begin producing at eace, large amounts of the richest copper ore (40 to 70 per cent.) taken out and marketed, and inexhaustible quantities of copper mari and clay running from 8 to 15 per cent, copper found. (Calumet and Hecla and other great dividend payers are working on

The property is within 12 miles of a railroad and fuel and water are available. The eres and mar! are on the surface and a few feet down, and can be mined and converted into copper cheaper than any other deposits in America. Copper will be preduced on the ground and a plant of moderate cost will treat 300 to 500 tons of preduced on the ground and a plant of moderate cost will treat 300 to 500 tons of ore and material per day, and according to engineers' estimates earn $5,000 to $5,000 per day, not, with copper at 15 cts per pound. It is now 18 cts, per pound.

The property has a historical reputation and a record in the State Geological Reports. It has been examined and reported upon by the highest engineering, geological and expert authorities, and its merit and value are established beyond all question. It is not an experiment, nor its value speculative, they are preven and demonstrated.

From Report of Prof. Wm. Dellyse, former State Chem "Such numerous outcrops of copper ore have been traced over the summit and sides of those hills that out of 12,000 horse of land which the company own, hardly a 160 acre tract should be found without ore upon the surface.

A cross-cut to the depth of 15 feet was made upon the lebell lead, and ten hours' work resulted in the raising of $,000 lbs. of rish copper ore, averaging about $00 per cent. of copper. (Worth $000, net.)

It is easily smelted and the strain is which it is found can also be more economically excavated than other in which copper ores occur

From Report of Pref. W. F. Cummins, former Geologist of Texas.

• • • "In order that I might see the condition of this lode after this amount of work had been done, I employed a few hands and cleased out the tannels when I found a lode of copper. This is the disulphate of copper and will yield as high as 70 per cent. of copper. In the use unequate of copper and will yield as high as 70 per cent. of copper. I drove the tunnel twenty feet further into the hill, following the lode. When I had gone about twelve feet I struck another lode of copper eighteen inches east and six inches below the second lode. In three feet more we struck another lode below the second lode. Immediately below the lower sandstone is a stratum of capriferous marl schists extending the entire width of the tunnel, say four feet, and is probably much wider. This marl will yield

From Report of Prof. Gustave Westman, Mining Engineer. I beg to express my entire satisfaction with and confidence in the report

I only had to remove one foot of earth from the surface on the three spots already mentioned in order to find large deposits bedded into the clay. After washing, this clay was found to contain 15 per cent. of copper ore of same value as above. These eres could of course be taken set and made available at a relatively

From Report of George F. Rendall, Mining Engineer.

"It is a self-evident fact deducible from every report that on this property large bodies of copper ere exists and that hundreds of tons have been shipped of high grade ere.

That a deposit of this nature can at a very small expense be made to yield tendsome profits, from all existing reports, appears not only likely but certain." Prom Report of Prancis Arthur Reall, Superintende

"This property is all right and there is all the copper you want here. I think it is the best in Texas and it seems to have been selected as such for copper. It is near the top of a water shed and the hills crop out here. I think there is oil here because there is ceal. Oil has been found at Corsicans. The property is adapted to general farming purposes which seems to be very profitable here and a town could be laid out on it and a railread built to Dundee, in miles, to great advantage."

The Great Boom in Copper Shares.

Copper mining has proved the safest and most profitable industry in America, and the largest and most conservative capitalists in the world have recently become large investors in copper stocks.

This company out produce copper as cheaply as any in the world. It is capidised the lowest of any in proportion to its acreage, and at the price of copperearing land in Michigan (8400 per acre) containing a much lose per cent. of copper, has a large value in excess of its low capitalization ($2,500,000.)

The efficers and directors of the company are men of the highest standing and seiness capacity, and include :

Maj. F. M. Spaulding, 2d Vice-President.

Col. James, M. Wheaton, Boston, Secretary

Hon. Jas. W. Bennett, Fx-President Brie Telephone Co.

Only a limited amount of the stock will be sold at the price of $6.00 per sh and those wishing to secure shares should act at once. As stated the stock is full paid and non-assessable. As soon as this allottment is seld the price will be

Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, nearness to transportation, favorable climate for continuous work the year around, the increasing demand and profit in preducing copper contidered, the Bolton and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment. It can easily earn 50 per cent. per year on the price of which the stock is here offered.

Stock may be ordered through your banker or broker, or direct as below.

FROM REPORT OF T. BURTON EVERETT, MINING ENGINEER AND EXPERT. How. Entery H. Low, Precident, and others, Boston, Mass.: * Gentlemen:—There is abundant evidence of rich copper deposits, not only at the mines already eposed, but at various other parts of the property, and it is my opinion that this will grove to be one of the exceptionally rich copper-bearing fields of the United States, * The cree found in these deposits are immensely rich in copper values and the experiment chars that are also found here in immense beds, while not as rich, will undoubtedly prove of great value on account of the cheapness with which they can be missed and reduced.

The mines are accountled at every point; the cost of mining will be very small, as the ere is not in hard formation; and there is no deep work.

I have examined the various reports made by others, and confirm them.

As far as I have been able to investigate, and I have done so carefully, I am of the epinion it is one of the richest copper fields in the country.

T. BURTON EVERETT, M. B.

Mr. G. H. Savage, Mine Kzaminer of Butte, Mostana, after gaining sample of ore from the property, says: "The ore is the richest in the country. If you have the field you can pay $1,000,000 dividends per year."

Major F. M. Spaniding, of Boston, and C. F. Crosby, Esq., of Lowell, Mass., who returned June 16th from an examination of the property on behalf of the Company's stockholders and intending investors, report that they found the property as represented and confirm the empert reports. They visited and examined the nine mines and explored the entire property.

The Company is theroughly organized with substantial business men in the management. It has such extensive across of land, rich in copper, and so easily and cheaply mined and converted, that dividends can be earned and public during the current year. Now is the time to make a safe and prelitable investment, and these who take advantage of this opportunity to buy stock at the low price offered will resp the benefit.

Remit by P. C. Order, Registered Letter, Check or Express to Edward B. Robins, Treasurer, Tremont Building, Boston, Mass. Price $5.00 per Share, Subject to advance.

Banks in Montreal Receiving Unusual Requests for Withdrawals.

DEPOSITORS FRIGHTENED

By Suspension of Banpue Ville Marie and Banque Jacques Cartier.

Montreal, Aug. 1.—The suspep-ion of the Banque Ville Marie his had most unfortunat effects in this city and district.

The small depositors in all the French banks have become froghtened, and are withdrawing their deposits as rapidy be they can [!

the a consequence of this needle alarm. the Hanque Jacques Cartier pasterday afternoon suffered such a run uron its branches that the direcors decided to suspenid for 36 days. There does not seem to have been any just reason for this run, and every-body expects that the Jacques Carlier will'pay.

Dellar for Dollar.

Its president, Hon. Alphonse Design-dian, said this morning that there was no need for alarm by either depositors or shareholders; that the directors were not receiving re-orts from all the branches, and that he had every hore that look belove the 30 days had excited the bank would be able to revume business on a favorable basis.

Peurle Alarmed.

But this suspension of the Banque somes Cartier is not the only resilt of the defalcation of Teller Herbert of the Ville Maria. The average result flet oritor has got a bad source, and the convequence is that all the banks are experiencing the effect of a run to a greater or less extent. (

The French banks are feeling the run more than any of the others, but all of the monetary institutions are to-day receiving unusual requests for withdrawale.

Prepared for Emergencies

One of the largest crowds is besigned the pressions of the Hanque d'-Horhelace. But there the directors are prepared for the depositors. They have provided themselves with two and a haif millions in gold and Dominion motes, and are meeting all claims upon them. Whether they can with-stand a run for any length of time is a question which only the future can rolve. This bank's capital is $1,256,000, and itw last statemen above liabili-ties of $8,841,000. It has branches at Soliette, Louiseville. Quebec, Sorel, Sherbroake, Three Rivers, Valley-

The local branch of La Banque Naticinale is also besisped with people,

AN OFFICERS' MEETING.

At the Salvation Army barracks last avening a non-commissioned officers' inseting was held, when Staff-Capt. Burdett addressed the sergeants of the local corps. He pointed out their various duties and emphasized the great ecomity of everyone doing his duty.
One of the chief duties of local officers, he mid, is to look after the new converts. If those who go forward at the regitent form are not kept track they are in great danger of backsliding, or becoming members of some church where they can rest without becoming workers, simply attending service and sitting in easy pews. If they are to become soldiers for God who will work to advance His cause, they must be looked after and belied forward in the Christian life.

Then there are those continued Cant.
Burdett who are Salvationists, but who hro'hers and sisters. It is so customary for recopie to leave others to bear theirtown burdens. We think we have sufficient burdens of our own, but those who do their duty faithfully will lone no conportunity to bless others and life and log atons by lears into high decrees of soirituality. It need to be one of the creat characteristics of Salvation Army of the meetines would receive a hearty

ARRITRATION OF LABOR SUPLIFIE.

The North American one of the representative newspapers of Philadelphia, is now conducting a campuigs keking to the compultory arbitration of all differences between capital and labour in the United States, and the remarks are as appliable to Canada as to the neighboring republic. It is proposed to make compulsory arbitra tion the condition on which charters will be granted to corporations.

While it is alculatful if compulsion would be win or even complie in a case of this nature any step that tends standing and perfect harmony between the warring elements of employed and employed chould have the support of the press and people. The history of this continent for the peak 'ten years bristles with necessity of a more or less disattrons' description. "An impanding explosion it was. Twe reare ago I was the most successful well shooter in America. I could make the editionen up where others had failed. The secret lay in the explosives I employed. I made them myself and had the buriness down fine. At that time I went to New York to figure on a big blasting contract that would have made me a pile. I failed to make the arrangement, and the very day the negotietions fell through I started suddenly for England on a similar mission.

sives ripening? asked the Englishman I was accompanying on the second day of our voyage.

"The question brought me to my feet and caused an exclamation of horror to secone from my lips. Many explosives undergo a ripening process, which adds greatly to their destructive power, at the same time decidedly increasing the danger of handling them. That made by me was elf this character. Indeed 25 days after it shas compounded it was almost sertain to axplode of its own volition, so to speak. Now, on the upper shelf of the checkmons of my New York hotel I had left a large grip containing a 20 pound can of this compound, the ripening of which meant destruction and death.

"For an hour I was almost in a state of frenzy, fresty denouncing myself he a multimurders. In vain I drew as awring picture of the devastation that would overwhelm a certain New York hotel in exactly 17 days and calles, upon the captain to put his ship about. He promised to tremsfer me to a west hound steamer if an opportunity presented itself, but fortunalished me, and I was chiliged to cross the consu. On the morning of the twenty-fifth day of the life of my ripening high explosive I sprang from a carriage and reshed into the hotel.

Copper Shares.

Safest Investment, Largest Dividends.

A partion of the full paid and non-assessable capital stock of the Boston & Texas Copper Company is offered for cale at Five Dollars per chare (par $10 for Treasury purposes), and is recommended as a safe and highly promising investment.

The company controls twelve thousand serves of rich copper land in North Texas which is also valuable for farming and town site purposes. The tract is some 10 miles long and about three miles wide. It is equivalent in cise to five handred ordinance articles and the company of the company of

The property is within 13 miles of a railroad and fuel and water are available The ores and mari are on the surface and a few feet down, and can be mined and converted into copper changer than any other deposits in America. Copper will be produced on the ground and a plant of moderate cost will tries $00 to $50 to sa of ore and material per day, and according to engineers' estimates earn $8,000 to $5,000 per day net, with copper at 15 cts per pound. It is now 16 cts. per pound.

The property has a historical reputation and a record in the State Geological Reports. It has been examined and reported upon by the highest engineering, delegical and expert authorities, and its merit and value are established beyond all conscious. It is not an experiment, nor its value speculative, they are proven and

From Report of Prof. Wm. DeRyce, former State Chemist of Texas "Such numerous enterops of copper ore have been traced over the summit and sides of those hills that out of 12,000 acres of land which the company own, hardly a 160 acre tract should be found without ore upon the surface

A cross-cut to the depth of 16 feet was made upon the Isbell lead, and ten hours' work resulted in the raising of 6,000 list of rich copper ere, averaging about 60 per cent. of copper. (Worth $860, net.)

It is easily smelled and the strata is which it is found can also be more economically excavated than other in which copper ores occur.

When I had gone about twelve feet I struck another lode of copper eighteen inches cast and six inches below the second lode. In three feet more we struck another lode below the second lode. Immediately below the lower sandstone is a stratum of capriferous marl schists extending the entire width of the tunnel, say four feet, and is probably much wider. This marl will yield

From Report of Prof. Gustave Westman, Mining Engine I beg to express my entire satisfaction with and confidence in the report

I only had to remove one fact of earth from the surface on the three spots already mentioned in order to find large deposite bedded into the clay. After weaking, this clay was found to contain 15 per cent. of copper ore of same value as above. These eres could of course be taken out and made available at a relatively

A From Report of George F. Roudell, Mining Engineer.

"It is a self-orident fact deducible from every report that on this property large bodies of copper ore exists and that hundreds of toos have been shipped of

That a deposit of this nature can at a very small expense be made to yield doese profits, from all existing reports, appears not only likely but certain."

From Report of Francis Arthur Reall, Superintendent.

"This property is all right and there is all the copper you want here. I think it is the best in Texas and it seems to have been released as such for copper. It is near the top of a water shed and the bills crop out here. I think there is ell here because there is coal. Oil has been found at Corsicana. The property is adapted to general farming purposes which seems to be very prefitable here and a town could be laid out on it and a railreed built to Dundee, 13 miles, to great advantage."

The Great Bolim in Copper Shares.

Copper mining has proved the safest and most profitable industry in America, and the largest and most conservative empiralists in the world have recently become

FROM REPORT OF T. BURTON EVERETT, MINING ENGINEER AND EXPERT.

Hos. Exemy H. Low, President, and others, Beston, Mass.: * * Gentlemen:—There is abundant evidence of rich copper depenits, not only at the minor already opened, but at various other parts of the property, and it is my opinion that this will prove to be one of the artespianally rich copper-bearing fields of the United States. * The cree found in these deponds are immensely rich in copper values and the cuperiferous clays that are also found have in interaction of the cheapones with which they can be mined and reduced.

The mines are accounted at twenty point; the cost of mining with the very small, as the ore is not in hard formation; and there is no deep work.

I have examined the various reports made by others, and confirm them.

* As far as I have been able to investigate, and I have done so carefully, I am of the opinion it is one of the richest obport fields in the country.

Mr. G. H. Savage, Mine Examiner of Butto, Montana, after gaining sample of ore from the property, says: "The ere is the richest in the country. If you have the you can pay $1,000,000 dividends per year."

Major F. M. Spankling, of Boston, and C. F. Croeby, Eq., of Lowell, Mass., who returned June 16th from an examination of the property on behalf of the Company's stockholders and intending investors, report that they found the property as represented and confirm the expert reports. They visited and examined the nine mines and explored the entire property.

The Company is theroughly organized with substantial business men in the management. It has such extensive acrosse of land, rich in copper, and so easily and cheeply mined and converted, that dividends can be carsed and puld during the current year. Now is the time to make a safe and profitable investment, and those who take advantage of this opportunity to buy stock at the low price afforced will reap the beauti. Remit by P. O. That was enough fer me, and I had the team to the cutter and out at the gate waitin fer the lady in less than no time.

"The team ways realist as frisks as hite."

Inta was enough for me, and a nan the team to the outer and out at the gate waitin for the lady in less than no time.

The team wuz feelin as frisky as kittens, and the way they along the snow and spun ever the road would stir the blood in a wooden man. When we got to the turnpike, where the folks usually let their teams out, I guess there wus a dozen or more movis up and down as a clippin gait, and we sailed right in among 'em, and in about seven minutes we passed everything on the road.

"Jim Hall wuzn't out with his team, and I could see that Mandy wus gittin anxious, though she wuzn't sayin much. The road leadin to Jim's place struck the pike about 800 yards from the upper turn, and there wuz no sign uv him as we passed, and we didn't see him as we come back, but just after we gut by his road we heard a clatter up the pike, and, by crackey, there was Jim a comin lickety spit. I guess he'd been to the postoffice, and the way he was comin after us wus like a mink after chickens. Mandy took one look over her shoulder and told me to let em go for all they wux wuth. I didn't need to be coaxed, and by the time she down the smooth zoow srack, and Jim was comin right behind us too. The march of progress was uron them and the Shocktim, who found it hard to observe the municipal regulations for domestic slaugh, or, mara contrained to take up their quarters in the butcher sho, s.

That was the evil day for the Shocktim. Previously they had fixed their own prices for chicken slaying. But having entered the comain of commerce by plying the knife in meat mar-tests their wages soon became subject to the rule of supply and demand.

From the tradsional rate of 2 to 3 conts a chicken—according to the age or degree of toughness of the particu-lar sowi—the pay fell to 1 and 1 1-2 beats. Soon the "six for five" basis was reached and finally very many of the chocktim were put on enlaries, which were small and wholly unequest to the proportions allowed in the hi-

For a long time these cut rates have sem growing worm every few months and now at last the strike is being considered as the herest but necessary sure for the leading of the Shocktim out of a bundage if not as bad, at least reminiscent of that which they suffered in Egypt under the Pharaous of many thousand yours ago.

Bo h the Shocktim of the bucker sho, and those parauing their calling at their homes are united in their demand for the restoration of the old rate at & ko 3 cents for each chicken, duck or other fowl slain by them. They may even decide to quit the meat shops forever, when all would again be found performing the lowi-staying rate over the ill-smelling barrels in the bases meate of devellings.

HE TOOK NAILS

it Was All the fame to the Man Who

Individuality is lost sight of in the cities. It is swalk wed up, as it were, in the mob. In a village it stands out with supprising distinctness. The old characters of the place are known to everybody, and their queer saying and doings are taid from mouth to mouth.

In a certain little town not a great ways from Cleveland there are probably as many of these peculiar people as any place of its size can boast. One of them is an ancient man who longs for the stood old times that followed the war and is a firm believer in the criminal weakness of the present financial system. He is a man of considerable property, but nevertheless is sonomical to an extreme degree. In fact, he was never known to spend a penny that didn't go for some actual necessity.

There is another character in the town who keeps the village general store. He is a good bearied fellow, who, after a long course of bachelorhood, finally married. In this little town it is the custom for the happy bridegroung to set up the cigars for all the congratulating males who drop is to wish him joy. So the bridegroom in this instance had a box on the counter, and most of his patrons were regaled from it.

Organizer Lowe and the other members of the Trackmen's Executive are still in the city, but they have received very few replies to the circular that was issued last week. The men who are now at work manifest no desire to leave the company's service again. The received by the company indicate that the men for the most part are satisfied. "How much did

When a young man, the late ex-Governor Ogle-by worked in the old Macon tavern. There he met the lawyers riding the circuit and formed the acquaintance of Judge Robbins of Springfield, with whom he studied law two years. Returning to Decatur, he began practicing in a town of 400 inhabitants. He soon became popular as a speaker. On one occasion he was making a Whig speech on one side of the square, while a Democrat was making an opposition speach on the other side. The Democrat was fast gesting the crowd when Mr. Oglesby, who was an old fashioned fiddler and played as well as he spoke, horrowed a fiddle from a man in the crowd and began to play. That broke up the opposition meeting, and the Democrat, left without an audience, came over and joined the crowd that was dancing to Oglesby's music. Amap Shots With a traphophone Octonel Cody, better known as "Buffale Bill," is one of the finest shots in the world. One of his most wonderful feats was not generally performed in public, for the reason that its failure or success could not be discorned at any great distance. It consisted in driving into a white board five short, fiet headed techs with five sweezesty shots, from a distance just short enough to allow the tecks to be accurately sighted. Be great was Colonel Cody's skill with the light rifle he used for this feat that, given favorable light, he could generally perform it six or asven times without a miss.—St. Louis Globe-Damoerak. The major sertion of London's water supply, however, comes from the Thames, which, according to latest resports, is practically drying up.

Berlin, Aug. 4.- The first of a series of criticisms on the British army by a German observer appears in the July number of The Berlin Neue Militarische Blatter. The author, Herr A. Hornung, appears to write with much knowledge of his subject.

Dealing with the recruiting questhe practice the authorities have been forced into of lowering the conditions of enlistment as regards age, cheat measurement, and general fitness for service. "The bulk of the English regular army," he says, 'is composed of elements insufficiently trained, physically and mentally."

Touching on the state of the millitia, Herr Hornung po ats out that the officers of this branch of the army are 700 abort of the number required. Coming to the volunteers, the German critic puts his finger on a number of weak points, including the insufficient allowance of cartridges, and the deficiency of ranges.

"Yunder the new regulatica," he adds, "the maximum distance at which volunteers practice is 600 yards. But with the Lee-Retford rifle, with which this force is now armed, the distance in my opinion should be 'receased to at len 1,000 yards." the practice the authorities have been

What Uncle Bill Wanted the Newspaper Publisher to De.

A number of newspaper men were exahanging reminiscences a few days ago in a Court street inn. One of them, by the way, was an ex-publisher—that is to say, he once owned and edited a paper in the upper section of the state. One of his subscribers was William Makepeace Thackersy Willington, whose neighbors called him "Uncle Bill" to save time and labor. "One day Uncle Bill walked into my effice," said the former publisher. "He placed his why in a corner and removed his het. He asked if I was the editor. I pleaded guilty. 'Shake,' said he. 'I am glad to know ye. When I was a young faller, I used to do some writin myself.'

"Uncle Bill lapsed into sitence and did some solid thinking for several minutes. Then he resumed the conversation. He said he liked the appearance of The Banner of Freedom mighty well and hoped it was not only bringing me fame, but money also. Naturally my boson swelled with pride. The éid man said he had only a few minutes to spare, and, before leaving, he wished to ask a favor. I supposed that he was about to spring a little poem which he had dashed off all by himself, but that wam't the case. Uncle Bill said:

"'My son, I want to ask you a special favor. My eyes are not as strong as they were, and I would like to have you print my copy of the paper in a type two or three sizes larger than you use in the requisare distin. Now, mind, I don's want you to do this for nothin. I'm willin to pay for it. Here's the money, and if that ian's enough let me know when my subscription is due again and I'll pay what's ewin."

A lante; Ga., Aug. 7,-The police were brought is contact in the most startling nanner last night with the boldest, most daring, checklest and most gellful nearo in thh city.

A negro actually had the audacity to walk into the police barracks, go up to the third flor, wheretheebrewdand wily city detectives hold forth in all their prowess, and holdly snatched up a detective's coat sta'rway-through halls and doors, past officers and guards, into the thickly populated arrest and then away to the darkness and liberty.

The daring and impertment act of this thief really dazed the detectives and sent a thrill through the marrow of the average policeman's nerves.

For a long time stealing has been going on in and about the police barracks, money and articles of wearing apparel being missing, and no clew to the thief has ever been had. Now, it is believed that the hold negro regue who raided the detective department of the barracks is the thief who has been doing the sneak act about the place in the past.

CANADA AND CHINESE TRADE,

Our American cousins are having their attention directed with great emphasis just now to the opportunities that await them in the Pacific world, says the Montreal Star. That morning in Manile Boy made them a power in the Fac East; and men who understand the situation there are meeking every means of access to the public ear, to insist that the American Government should begin at once to take steps for the protection of American interests in Asia. It is not, mays John Barrett, formerly United States Minister to Siam, in the North American Review, a question merely mand for better navigation of the of the l'bilippines, but the greater river it spans. This is the stone question of the future of China. The bridge, with 15 arches, and a total question of thatfuture of China. Mr. Barrett thinks that the Ameri- years the bridge has been worn by cans should strive to maintain the in- human footsteps, but now must go. tegrity of Chica, and, at all events, to insist upon the "open door.' This was precisely the British attitude of the other day. Whether the agree ment with Ramia implies any abandcomment of this agosition may be a matter of dispute; but is undoubtedly true that Britain still favora with all her might the atrengthening of the Chinese Government, and the maintenance of the "open door." Copper Shares.

Safest Investment, Largest Dividends.

A portion of the full paid and non-assessable capital stock of the Boston & Texas Copper Company is offered for sale at Five Dollars per share (par $10 for Treasury purposes), and is recommended as a safe and highly promising investment

The company controls twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in North Texas which is also valuable for farming and town site purposes. The tract is some 10 miles long and about three miles wide. It is equivalent in size to five hundred ordinary mining claims.

The property has been developed sufficiently to begin producing at once, large amounts of the richest copper ore (40 to 70 per cent.) taken out and marketed, and inexhaustible quantities of copper marl and clay running from 3 to 15 per cent copper found. .(Calumet and Hecla and other great dividend payers are working on

The property is within 12 miles of a railroad and fuel and water are available. The ores and marl are on the surface and a few feet down, and can be mined and converted into copper cheaper than any other deposits in America. Copper will be produced on the ground and a plant of moderate cost will treat 300 to 500 tons of ore and material per day, and according to engineers' estimates earn $3,000 to $5,000 per day net, with copper at 15 cts per pound. It is now 18 cts. per pound.

The property has a historical reputation and a record in the State Geological Reports. It has been examined and reported upon by the highest engineering, geological and expert authorities, and its merit and value are established beyond all question. It is not an experiment, nor its value speculative, they are proven and

From Report of Prof. Wm. DeRyee, former State Chemist of Texas. "Such numerous outcrops of copper ore have been traced over the summit and sides of those hills that out of 12,000 acres of land which the company own, hardly a 160 acre tract should be found without ore upon the surface. A cross-cut to the depth of 15 feet was made upon the Isbell lead, and ten hours' work resulted in the raising of 6,000 lbs. of rich copper ore, averaging about 60 per cent. of copper. (Worth $360, net.)

It is easily smelted and the strata in which it is found can also be more economically excavated than other in which copper ores occur."

From Report of Prof. W. F. Cummins, former Geologist of Texas.

'In order that I might see the condition of this lode after this amount of work had been done, I employed a few hands and cleaned out the tunnels when I found a lode of copper. This is the disulphate of copper and will yield as high as 70 per cent. of copper. I drove the tunnel twenty feet further into the hill, following the lode. When I had gone about twelve feet I struck another lode of copper eighteen inches east and six inches below the second lode. In three feet more we struck another lode below the second lode. Immediately below the lower sandstone is a stratum of cupriferous marl schists extending the entire width of the tunnel, say four feet, and is probably much wider. This marl will yield about 15 per cent. of copper."

From Report of Prof. Gustave Westman, Mining Engineer. "I beg to express my entire satisfaction with and confidence in the report made by Prof. W. F. Cummins. I only had to remove one foot of earth from the surface on the three spots already mentioned in order to find large deposits bedded into the clay. After washing, this clay was found to contain 15 per cent. of copper ore of same value as above. These ores could of course be taken out and made available at a relatively

The cupriferous marl situated below the sandstone, containing 15 per cont. of copper, can be estimated worth at the place at least $10.00 per ton, net.

From Report of George F. Rendall, Mining Engineer.

"It is a self-evident fact deducible from every report that on this property large bodies of copper ore exists and that hundreds of tons have been shipped of high grade ore.

That a deposit of this nature can at a very small expense be made to yield handsome profits, from all existing reports, appears not only likely but certain.

From Report of Francis Arthur Reall, Superintendent.

"This property is all right and there is all the copper you want here. I think it is the best in Texas and it seems to have been selected as such for copper. It is near the top of a water shed and the hills crop out here. I think there is oil here because there is coal. Oil has been found at Corsicana. The property is adapted to general farming purposes which seems to be very profitable here and a tows could be laid out on it and a railroad built to Dundee, 12 miles, to great advantage."

The Great Boom in Copper Shares

Copper mining has proved the safest and most profitable industry in America, and the largest and most conservative capitalists in the world have recently become large investors in copper stocks.

This company can produce copper as cheaply as any in the world. It is capitalized the lowest of any in proportion to its acreage, and at the price of copperbearing land in Michigan ($400 per acre) containing a much less per cent. of copper, has a large value in excess of its low capitalization ($2,500,000.)

Receipts for ore and assays by the leading chefaists and assayers in the country are on file in the company's offices. The officers and directors of the company are men of the highest standing and business capacity, and include :

Hon. Emery M. Low, manufacturer, mayor of Brockton, Mass., President. George W. Russell, Esq., paper manufacturer, Boston, Vice-President.

Maj. F. M. Spaulding, 2d Vice-President.

Col. Edward B. Robins, Boston, Treasurer.

Col. James. M. Wheaton, Boston, Secretary

Hon. Jas. W. Bennett, Fx-President Erie Telephone Co.

Only a limited amount of the stock will be sold at the price of $6.00 per share and those wishing to secure shares should act at once. As stated the stock is full paid and non-assessable. As soon as this allottment is sold the price will be

Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, chespness of mining and treatment, nearness to transportation, favorable climate for continuous work the year around, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment. It can easily earn 50 per cent, per year on the price at which the stock is here offered.

Stock may be ordered through your banker or broker, or direct as below.

FROM REPORT OF T. BURTON EVERETT, MINING ENGINEER AND EXPERT.

How. Revenue E. Low, President, and others, Boston, Mass.: * Gentlemen:—There is shundant evidence of rich copper deposits, not only at the mines already opened, but at various other parts of the property, and it is my opinion that this will prove to be one of the exceptionally rich copper-bearing fields of the United States,

* The ores found in these deposits are immensely rich in copper values and the cuperiferous clays that are also found here in immense beds, while not as rich, will undoubtedly prove of great value on account of the cheapnese with which they can be mined and reduced.

The mines are accessible at every point; the coet of mining will be very small, as the ore is not in hard formation; and there is no deep work.

I have examined the various reports made by others, and confirm them.

* As far as I have been able to investigate, and I have done so carefully, I am of the opinion it is one of the richest copper fields in the country.

Very respectfully yours,

T. BURTON EVERETT, M. E.

Mr. G. H. Savage, Mine Examiner of Butte, Montana, after gaining sample of ore from the property, says: "The ore is the richest in the country. If you have the field you can pay $1,000,000 dividends per year."

Major F. M. Spaulding, of Boston, and C. F. Croeby, Esq., of Lowell, Mass., who returned June 16th from an examination of the property on behalf of the Comand explored the entire property.

The Company is thoroughly organized with substantial business men in the management. It has such extensive acrosp of land, rich in copper, and so easily and cheaply mined and converted, that dividends can be earned and paid during the current year. Now is the time to make a safe and profitable investment, and those who take advantage of this opportunity to buy stock at the low price offered will reap the beneft.

Remit by P. O. Order, Registered Letter, Check or Express to Edward B. Robins, Treasurer, Trement Building, Boston, Mass. Price $5.00 per Share, Subject to advance.

The Victim Was the Samean King Halleton and the Victor an Amerioan Naval Cfloor -- The Jack Pet That Caused the Trouble.

"There was a stiff game of poker played by a phymaster in the navy with hing Malietoa several years ago. I guess this was about the healthiest game ever indulged in by a foreigner. Malietos had heard of the great games played by Kalskaua, king of Hawaii, and the Samoan thought he'd like to take a little brush on this line. Well, Malicton's opportunity to test his bellef came one day when an American man of-war-never mind which -sailed into the harbor at Apia. His American man-of-war—never mind which one—salled into the harbor at Apis. His determination to take the thirty-second degree in the mysteries of the great American game was satisfied to the fullest extent. Among the officers aboard the man-of-war were a paymaster, a licutenant and an asistant engineer, who had burned the midnight lamp studying poker at Annapolis and had prosecuted the study in season and but of season ever since they left that place. In a word, they were all three just about as smooth poker players as you could find in a month's travel.

There was a trader among the white residents of Apia who was known to come to the front with a pretty stiff game, end Malietoa soon arranged through him a game with the officers. By invitation and appointment the king and his friends met the officers in the private parlors of a European, and before the evening was half gone Malietoa requested that the limit, a small one, he taken off. The old codger had won several pretty fair jack pot and felt his importance and ability to clean up the whole crowd. Off the limit came, and for several hours Malietoa had almost phenomenal luck, winning jack pot after jack pot. The more he won the more reckless he became, and when something was said about closing down he entered a large and emphatic protest. The game proceeded, and the healthiest jack pot of the night was on the table.

"Several hands had been dealt around his

"Several hands had been dealt around without any one having expressed his ability to open the pot, when the king, with a look of surprise and a smile of pleasure and triumph combined, an-nounced that he would open it $20 worth. Every player staid. The paymaster drew three cards, the lieutenant the same numthree cards, the lieutenant the same name ber, the assistant engineer took two and the trader one. Malieton showed his bood by standing out and putting $10 more into the pot. The paymaster haw this and raised him $25, while the others this and raised him $45, while the valeta staid. Then the king raised again, and the paymaster threw in $25 more. It was becoming too interesting for the other players, and they dropped out. After the king's last raise the paymaster hesitated a moment, put his cigar to one side and shoved $50 to the middle of the mahog-

The paymaster's face grew serious, and he looked at his royal opponent in a hesitat-ing, pussled sort of way. Could this be a Samoan Ah bin he had run against? Had this kingly copper colored son of a gun learned the art of poker playing from visiting traders years before and had he been playing possum all the even had he been playing possum all the ing? Having six or seven months are not more deadly than the millions of disease germs that are floating in the air we breathe and in the water we drink—germs of typhoid fever, malaria, consumption. Compared to a disease germ, a rattlesanke is a gentleman. He is a fair fighter. He tells you to look out. He rattles before he strikes. You have a chance to fight or run. The disease germ aneaks in. It comes while you are alceping. It gains an entrance to the blood. It propagates there. It multiplies. In a few hours, or days, your blood is full of its children—millions of them. They go all over your body seeking a weak spot. They don't rattle—they strike. You feel listlesa, nervelesa, aluggish, feveriah, and maybe you're fat on your back before you really know there is anything the matter.

The only way to keep out disease germs—to keep from being sick—is to keep your blood pure and rich, and your liver active and healthy.

SHARP ANAWER TO A CRITIC.

The persistence with which some clergymen attack secular newspapers is wellsnag by being too indiscriminate.

The churchman recently made a mistake of this kind which called forth a sharp reply from Stephen Fiske, in The Fireside Companion, in which he said:

The troub e is that so many of the men in the ministry are out of place. They have no true vocation for their onerous profession. They want to enjoy all the pleasures of this world while they are telling other people to take the straight and narrow way to heaven. They are in a constant state of self-contradiction, the flesh warring against the spirit. They know that they have no warrant in the Bible for accepting large salaries, aspiring to worldly honors, seeking reputations as writers and orators. Having studied the aware that Christ has emphatically enjoined upon them to except nothing but the bare necessaries of life, to give every surplus cent to the poor, to take upon themselves the strictest vows of poverty. chastity and devotion to the work of sal-They are too weak to fulfill such yows. They try to silence conscience, but he still small voice will make itself heard and keeps them nervously excited and irritated. They are afraid to cast aside all earthly goods and trust implicitly to the relation in which they urge others to trust. A the same time they are equally afraid to give in the social and necuniar advantages of the ministry and earn a living as a conscientious layman.

Alcount in the Land a Ball are Manager of mankind to pre in the gospel to every creature. How many of them do you know who cheerfully respond to that call and rigorously observe the conditions of the ministry? Let us bring the subject home to our clerical brother of The Churchran He has been divinely called he has been solemnly ordained. What then, is he doing in an editorial chair instead of in the pulpit?

For us who are secular preachers the editorial department presents the widest facilities for improving humanity. But we do not claim to be set apart from mankind; we do not exact deterrace and respect on account of a holy office. We are of the world as well as in the world with us editing is a matter of business not a pious mission; we are content to do all the good that is possible without posing as beyond and above our fellowmen. Whenever a clergyman becomes an editor he leaves a pulpit vacant and crowds a journalist out of a situation, Neither of these results appeal to us as truly Christias.

The picture here held up heightens by contrast these good, self-sacrificing men who devote themselves to their calling and who, while others are courting the applause of large ansembles, stand by the beds of suffering and of death, giving hope and consolation to those who stand in the meed of it.

THEMAGICALMIRROR

A CURIOUS GLASS OWNED BY A WASHINGTON MAN.

Several Well Known Persons Have Seen Portentons Pictures Reflected In its Oval Surface, Although It Will Not Work For All.

While all of us have heard in early child a hood of the tales of magical mirrors, in which impossible herous assuminossible herouses in danger, from which said heroes proceeded to rescue the fair mandens, yet such things have been relegated by most of us to the region of the imagination. We regard such things as being outside of the real world of today and belonging to the real world of today and belonging to the region of myth and fable. Yet, in spite of our pressio nineteenth century, it is nevertheless a fact that a Washington gentleman is the possessor of an article which might be classed as appropriately belonging to the time of Aladdin and the wonderful lamp. This strange acquisition is a mirror which came from India, and in which one can see the events which the future will bring forth. That such is its power is altested by some of the best known gentlement. While all of us have heard in early child bring forch. I has such in the power in ac-tested by some of the lest known gentle-men of the city, who, for obvious reasons, do not wish their names to be mentioned. This mirror came into the possession first of a Washington lady who was trav-eling in India, and, being interested in the siret of a Washington lady who was travaling in India, and, being interested in the religion of the country, sook a trip to the famous temple of Alora, which lies in a resky side of the foothills of the Himalays mountains. This temple is now but a ruin of jagged rooks, jutting out harshly into the soft greensward that rolls smoothly down into the valley below. Above tower the vast mountains with their glittering caps of snow looking down on the peaceful tropical scene where for ages the followers of Brahma have performed their sacred rites.

The ruins of the temple stand open to the weather, and its ancient glory, which ahone in such splendor before the English came to India, is now diminished. But a small band of Brahman monks still kept the mored secrets and occumentes alivs. Few Europeans ever ponetrate this section of the mountains, but the Washington lady mounted and visited the monastery. While there she managed to secure possession of one of the mirrors made by the monks and reputed to possess wonderful properties.

just received from a friend of his, also properties.

The lady brought the mirror with her co'ored, who resides at Winston, N.C., a letter, which places another view on on her return to town, and at her death it came into the possession of Mr. Lowder-milk From him it was bought by a gentleman who takes great interest in such matters, but who would not like the fact of the existence of the mirror in his house to be known, as it would attract thousands of seekers after the curious. After naving quite a large sum for the glass the letter. "you have read about how we are paying quite a large sum for the glass the mirror was brought home and put to the letter. "you have read about how we are being treated down her ein this Godforson part of the country. Lynchings here, and more varticularly in some of the Blates south, are as frequent as the times you take your breakfast. Sometimes they average from four to five rer day. There are bundreds and hundreds of lynching colored school teachers, and it seems to crow worse and worse every week. Still our President. William McKin'ey, and the National Con'lless say hev cannot do anything. We cannot dissue a white man's word here. It does not matter him toor he is. If we do we are liable to be lynched at any morent. Mr. Simmons, I will be rank I do not know which we are to do As I see it, our future here is very, very dark. It cannot as we crow in education and wealth it seems to increase the mob rule. There fore what have we cell to extend the one is the head of he tynched or hurst before davicht. So you can we are hog one having to the law of elements of the care hog one treated worse new thin we were ever treated worse new thin we were ever treated in the days of element. We are treated worse new the country will protect us." mirror was brought home and pust to the test.

The mirror is oval in shape, about a foot long and is surrounded by a wooden frame two tmokes in width and painted a dark green. The back of the glass is content time, so that the whole has the appearance of a lustrous eyal. The method of was to by sitting with the mirror in one's lap and helding the glass as that there is no reflection of other objects shining on the surface of the glass. If the test is a success, there will appear in about a quarter of an hour a thin, cloudy mist which will slowly float over the surface, and then the images of future events will be mirrored in the essemingly fathomics depth of the dark glass.

The gentleman who owns the mirror has never been himself successful in seeing anything, but a friend of his, a prominent judge and a thirty-third degree Miason, had a remarkable experience. He placed the mirror in his lap, and, after half an hour, a mist floated over the surface; then he saw reflected in the glass a picture of a cediin, within which was the still, white face of a dead man. At first glance the features seemed those of the ganteman—a man then in perfect health. In a second the picture shifted, and another face—that of a friend—appeared within the sides of the coffin. The gentleman in two weeks afterward lost his brother, and in a short while his friend, whose face he had also seen, passed to another world.

A son of the owner was one evening friend, whose face he had also seen, passed to another world.

A son of the owner was one evening looking into the mirror, when he saw within a picture of a house in flames. There were the servants lesping from the porches, then returning to drag out the furniture. The glare shone around on a yard which the gaser recognized as that of his own farmhouse down the Potomac. By the mail two days afterward he received from his housekeeper an account of yard which the gaser recognition as mass this own farmhouse down the Potomac. By the mail two days afterward he received from his housekeeper an account of a fire which had destroyed his home, and the description tallied exactly with the picture seen in the mirror.

Another man, a gentleman employed in the bureau of ethnology and well known as a mientist and linguist, has also seen many pictures in the mirror—pictures of events in his life which were afterward scalined to the letter.

By a student of cocultism the following directions were given in a treatise on that subject, which dealt with the methods employed in making such mirrors: The materials need are one gians, 6½ inches by 8½ inches, free from flaws and concave in shape; a small amount of turpentine as phaltum, a plat of spirite of turpentine, a small hairbruch, a box in which to case the mirror, and a half a yard of new cloth. The glass is placed in a clean, light and airy room, the materials washed perfectly clean; then the hrush and the glass are wiped over with turpentine. Afterward the heak of the glass is coated smoothly with a thin varnish of the asphaltum and left to dry, the esperation being repeated for the two following days. At the end of that time the mirror is magnetized by placing then hos and fro, so that the animal magnetic force may be well absorbed by the asphaltum. The asphaltum is the heat known material for absorption of the sum of the human body, and this is the reason for its use. The test should be made also in a clean, airy chamber when alone and when the mind is composed, and by purseverance the inquirer is sure to be rewarded—so say the books on maglo.—Washington Post and pushed forward the man who had been away since my advent in the house and whom I had just met.

"Go on and put 'em on with him,' they urged this man. 'He won's hurs you. You've had the gloves on once or twice, anyhow, while none of the rest of us knows anything about boxing. Go ahead and give him a little exercise."

"All right,' said this man rather reluctantly. He looked just like an ordinary man with his coat on, and I felt that he would be deed easy as a subject upon whom to practice and to show the other fellows what I knew about the fine pointer of the game. When he returned from his room, however, stripped to his trousers and his gause undershirt, I couldn't help but look at the chap. For a man of ordinary size he shid the hugest chest I had ever seen, and his arms and aboulders were simply knotted and twisted with muscles. He was as quiet spoken a duck as ever I saw, though, and he didn't look to be lively on his feet, so we went at it.

"Well, say that was a one man bout. and the other fellow was the one man There was nothing to its but him. From the very minute that we squared off I could see by the way he handled his dukes that the boxing game was his'n and that I was like six lead nickols in comparison with him. He just fooled with me at first—rapped me here and there at will, adding insult to injury by quietly announcing where he was going to joit me next—and I bever got in a lick or a dab on him. I tried my dernedest when I saw I was totally outclassed to get in just one belt at him somewhere or other, but it was no go. He had a lightning guard for every ceasy I made to crack him one, and after about five minutes I was puffing like a tree took a momentary rest. "You're been we took a momentary rest." A CROP OF LAWSHITS

We wonder how the rateographic lish the prospect of a big crop of liw suits against the town for injury to properby by the construction of the new walks I in home coses it arpears to us, there is substantial grounds for action, for the walks are built at a lower fevel than is eces-eary. Mr. Methernt for instance, claims that his Couse is in danger of falling; Mr. Freehurn, that his property on 'Roock street, known as the Little Windsor Hotel, is ruined; Mr. R. A. Morrow, that the store occupled by Mr. Kernaght n ist very much inforest; Mr. Oroft, that his hotel is of little use to him. Nor are these all. There are scores of others who complain hitterly of the way these walks are being built. The peo ple bverywhere appear to think that they are either too low or too high. It will probably result in a number of actions for dr mages being instituted agrinet the corporation, and a huge bill of costs, if not danniges, to pay. The Times must confess, candidly, that it blist a poor opinion of the me thods of the party or pirties whose duty it is to give the levels. The gentleman referred to either does know his business or is controlled by the committee. Which it it?

Copper Shares.

Safest Investment, Largest Dividends.

A portion of the full paid and non-assessable capital stock of the Boston & Texas Gopper Company is offered for sale at Five Dollars per share (par $10 for Treasury purposes), and is recommended as a safe and highly promising investment.

The company controls twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in North Texawhich is also valuable for farming and town site purposes. The tract is some 10 miles long and about three miles wide. It is equivalent in size to five hundred ordi-

The property has been developed sufficiently to begin producing at once, large amounts of the richest copper ore (40 to 70 per cent.) taken out and marketed, and inexhaustible quantities of copper marl and clay running from 3 to 15 per cent copper found. (Calumet and Hecla and other great dividend payers are working on

The property is within 12-miles of a railroad and fuel and water are available. The ores and marl are on the surface and a few feet down, and can be mined and converted into copper cheaper than any other deposits in America. Copper will be produced on the ground and a plant of moderate cost will treat 300 to 500 tons of ore and material per day, and according to engineers' estimates earn $3,000 to $5,000 per day net, with copper at 15 cts per pound. It is now 18 cts. per pound.

The property has a historical reputation and a record in the State Geological It has been examined and reported upon by the highest engineering, goo logical and expert authorities, and its merit and value are established beyond all question. It is not an experiment, nor its value speculative, they are proven and

From Report of Prof. Wm. DeRyee, former State Chemist of Texas. Such numerous outcrops of copper ore have been traced over the summit and gides of those hills that out of 12,000 acres of land which the company own, hardly a 160 acre tract should be found without ore upon the surface.

A cross-cut to the depth of 15 feet was made upon the Isbell lead, and ten hours' work resulted in the raising of 6,000 lbs. of rich copper ore, averaging about 60 per cent. of copper. (Worth $360, net.)

It is easily smelted and the strata in which it is found can also be more economically excavated than other in which copper ores occur.

From Report of Prof. W. F. Cummins, former Geologist of Texas

In order that I might see the condition of this lode after this amount of work had been done. I employed a few hands and cleaned out the tunnels when I found a lode of copper. This is the disulphate of copper and will yield as high as 70 per cent. of copper. I drove the tunnel twenty feet further into the hill, following the lode. When I had gone about twelve feet I struck another lode of copper eighteen inches east and six inches below the second lode. In three feet more we struck another lode below the second lode. Immediately below the lower sandstone is a stratum of cupriferous marl schists extending the entire width of the tunnel, say four feet, and is probably much wider. This marl will yield about 15 per cent, of copper."

From Report of Prof. Gustave Westman, Mining Engineer. "I beg to express my entire satisfaction with and confidence in the report

I only had to remove one foot of earth from the surface on the three spots already mentioned in order to find large deposits bedded into the clay. After washing, this clay was found to contain 15 per cent. of copper ore of same value as above. These ores could of course be taken out and made available at a relatively copper, can be estimated worth at the place at least $10.00 per ton, not.

From Report of George F. Rendall, Mining Engineer.

"It is a self-evident fact deducible from every report that on this property large bodies of copper ore exists and that hundreds of tons have been shipped of

That a deposit of this nature can at a very small expense be made to yield handsome profits, from all existing reports, appears not only likely but certain

From Report of Francis Arthur Reall, Superintendent.

This property is all right and there is all the copper you want here. I think it is the best in Texas and it seems to have been selected as such for copper. It is near the top of a water shed and the hills crop out here. I think there is oil here because there is coal. Oil has been found at Corsicana. The property is adapted to general farming purposes which seems to be very profitable here and a town could be laid out on it and a railroad built to Dundee, 12 miles, to great advantage."

The Great Boom in Copper Shares.

Copper mining bas proved the safest and most profitable industry in America and the largest and most conservative capitalists in the world have recently become large investors in copper stocks.

This company can produce copper as cheaply as any in the world. It is cap talized the lowest of any in proportion to its acreage, and at the price of copper bearing land in Michigan ($400 per acre) containing a much less per cent. of copper has a large value in excess of its low capitalization ($2,500,000.)

Receipts for ore and assays by the leading chemists and assayers in the country are on file in the company's offices.

The officers and directors of the company are men of the highest standing and

Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, nearness to transportation, favorable climate for continuous work the year around, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment. It can easily earn 50 per cent. per year on the price at which the stock is here offered.

FROM REPORT OF T. BURTON EVERETT, MINING ENGINEER AND EXPERT.

Hos. Emeny H. Low, President, and others, Boston, Mass.: * * Gentlemen:—There is abundant evidence of rich copper deposits, not only at the mines already opened, but at various other parts of the property, and it is my opinion that this will prove to be one of the exceptionally rich copper-bearing fields of the United States, * The ores found in these deposits are immensely rich in copper values and the cuperiferous clays that are also found here in immense beds, while not as rich, will undoubtedly prove of great value on account of the cheapness with which they can be mined and reduced.

The mines are accessible at every point; the cost of mining will be very small, as the ore is not in hard formation; and there is no deep work.

I have examined the various reports made by others, and confirm them.

* As far as I have been able to investigate, and I have done so carefully, I am of the opinion it is one of the richest copper fields in the country.

T. BURTON EVERETT, M. E.

Very respectfully yours,

Mr. G. H. Savage, Mine Examiner of Butte, Montana, after gaining sample of ore from the property, says: "The ore is the richest in the country. If you have field you can pay $1,000,000 dividends per year."

Major F. M. Spaulding, of Boston, and C. F. Crosby, Esq., of Lowell, Mass., who returned June 16th from an examination of the property on behalf of the Com-y's stockholders and intending investors, report that they found the property as represented and confirm the expert reports. They visited and examined the nine es and explored the entire property. The Company is thoroughly organized with substantial business men in the management. It has such extensive acroage of land, rich in copper, and so easily and cheeply mined and converted, that dividends can be earned and paid during the current year. Now is the time to me safe and profitable investment, and those who take advantage of this opportunity to buy steck at the low price offered will reap the beneft. Remit by P. O. Order, Registered Letter, Check or Express to Edward B. Robins, Treasurer, Trement Building, Boston, Mass. Price $5.00 per Share, Subject to advance.

A GREAT POKER GAME

Malieton and the Victor an American Raval Officer - The Jack Pot That Caused the Trouble.

"There was a stiff game of poker played There was a stiff game of poker played by a paymaster in the navy with him; Malieton several years ago. I guess this was about the bealthiest gome ever indused in by a foreigner. Malieton had heard of the great games played by Kalakaus, king of Hawaii, and the Samoan thought he'd like to take a little beauty. duland in by a foreigner. Malletoa had heard of the great games played by Kalakaua, king of Hawaii, and the Samoan thought he'd like to take a little brush on this line. Well, Malletoa's opportunity to test his belief came one day when an American manof-ware-sever mind which one—asiled into the hurbor at Apia. His determination to take the thirty-second degree in the mysteries of the great American game was satisfied to the fullest extent. Aufong the officers abourd the man-of-war were a paymaster, a lieutemant and an asistant engineer, who had burned the midnight lamp studying poker at Annapolia and had prosecuted the utudy in season and out of season ever since they left that place. In a word, they were all three just about as smooth poker players as you could find in a month's travel.

"There was a trader among the white residents of Apia who was known to come to the front with a pretty stiff game, and Malietoa soon arranged through him a game with the officers. By invitation and appointment the king and his friends met the officers in the private pariors of a European, and before the evening was half gone Malietoa to quested that the limit, a small one, be taken off. The old codger had won weveral pretty fair jack pots and felt his importance and ability to clean up the whola crowd. Off the limit came, and for several hours Malietoa had almost phenomenal luck, winning jack pot after jack pot. The more he was the more reckless he became, and when soshething wes spaid, about closing down he entered a large and emphatic protest. The game proceeded, and the healthlest jack pot of the night was on, the table.

"Beyergal hands had been dealt around without any one having expressed his ability to spen the pot, when the, king, with a look, of surprise, and a smalle of pleasure and, the unsuper healthlest jack pot of the night was one having a paymaster drew three cards, the lieutospatrihe same number, the assistant engineer took, two and the paymaster there in $25 more. It was becoming too interesting for the other a moment, put his eigar to one side and shoved $80 to the middle of the mahagany.

"The king put up the equivalent in Chilean sliver dollars, the currency of the islands, and, drawing a small such from his pecket, emptied its contents before him and excitedly placed in the pot the funds of the royal treasury of 8a-mos, amounting to $79 is sliver. The paymaster's face grew serious, and he looked at his royal opponent in a healtating, pussed sort of way. Could this be a Samoan Ah Bin he had run against? Had the kingly sopper colored son of a gun learned the art of poker playing from visiting traders years before and had be been playing possum all the evening? Having six or seven months' pay in his inside pochet, the paymaster decided to chance some of it in finding out.

"After a few moments of undecision he drew $579 in gold and silver from his pocket and added it to the pot, which now covered the table. Maileton gave a gang and called for a glass of have to steady his neaves. This he guiped down and announced that he was out of funds, requesting at the same time that the paymaster take his word fer $500, but there was nary a take, the paymaster only amiling and looking fixedly at the pot. Then the excited monarch offered to put up the island of Manono, one of the finest in the Samoan group, against the $500. To this the paymaster concented, and a transfer deed of the property, duly higned, attested by the trader, who was a notary public, and witnessed by the other two offerers, was put in the pot. Then the king called the paymaster, who slowly laid down four acce and a five spot.

wall of dispair, his majesty exposed to view three kings, an eight spot and a dence. Then he fell off his chair in a faint, the excitement having been too much for his nerves. Kava in copions quantities brought him around sufficiently to enable his removal to his own castle. The paymaster showeled his money into a sack and placed it in the trader's iron safe, but the deed for the island he carefully placed in his pocket.

"Next morning the details of the big poker game were known to nearly every

The black and white striped fabries in silk or silk and wool effects, which impart length and sleederness to the figure, are uncommonly handsome and varied in design this year.

The pretty Tudor sleeve, out off at the top and finlahed above the deep upward point with a small gathered cap of fabrie matching the yoke or guimpe, is a model used on containes and tollets of every sort. On many of the contumes of foulard, figured teffects or surah, drap de chine, drap d'ets, summer costume cloth, etc., the waist is belied at the back and on the sides, but in front is in jacket style, with tabled ends falling below the waist line.

One of the most graceful summer models one and stmilar goods, is the new seven goved model, with a pretty densitrain, to be made up separably over a foundation shirt of exactly the same shaps.

Shirts with olosings at the side instead of at the back are now the most favored. If so arranged, the round waist or because bodies can be permanently fastened to the shirt at the back, has avoiding the time and strift differently lessed or hooked.

London, Aug. 9—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing with reference to the mission of M. Count Muravieff approved and even urged a Franco-German rapproachment. Nothing was stranged about the Catr's visit to Paris during the exposition. THE ENTREE AN ECONOMY.

It Dulls the Eater's Appetito For the Disner Proper.

It Dulls the Eater's Appetite For the Disser Proper.

In the French and Italian cuisine, where economy is studied far more scientifically and thoroughly than in the English or American kitchen, the entree is not considered an extravagance. On the contrary, it is looked upon rather as an attractive economy—like soup, which dulls the eater's appetite so that he partakes less heartily of the more costly meat sources that follow. On the continent the luncheon never begins, as with us, with the chief dish of substantials. There is an introduction in the shape of a soup, or a dish of eggs, or of rice, or of macaroni, or smolino prepared in appetiting mode. Upon this the luncher tries the first edge of his appetite, so to speak. The piece de resistance comes afterward.

In the same manner, at dinner, the soup is almost invariably followed by one or two entrees. In the more ambitious menus these may consist of fish or poultry, or even of mest, prepared in croquettes or riscoles, or val-su-vent. If there are two entrees, the vegetable will come second. But when, as is the case at many tables, there is only one entree, this is mearly always a vegetable and is served directly after the soup.

It must be borne in mind that the old fashioned custom which prevailed so generally some years ago in America, and is still to be found in certain places, of serving a number of vegetables with the principal meat dish is not followed on the continent. In England it is not unusual to see half a down dishes of vegetables appear with the reast. There they have even less idea of variety than is common with us, for precisely the same vegetables are offered day after day until one grows weary of the very sight of them. This, of course, is not the case among those people who have made a study of dinner giving and have grafted French sustome on the British stock.

On the continent, however, things are done in a different fashion. At a simple dinner, containing, let us say, five course, the first will be soup, the second a vegetable and one o

Was Hanged Over Again.

G. W. Stevens, who traveled extensively in India, tells the following interesting story: A Pathan was being hanged, when the rope broke. The warder bade him go up on to the canfold again, but he objected. "No," he said, "I was sentenced to be hanged, and hanged I've been."
"Not so, friend," argued the warder; "you were sentenced to be hanged until you were sentenced to be hanged until you were dead, and you're not dead."

It was a new view to the Pathan, and he turned to the superintendent. "Is that right, saib?"

"Yes, that's right."

"Yes, that's right."

"Yes, that's right."

"Yes, that's right."

"Tes, that's right."

"Dosor," said the grateful patient, exiting the physician's hand, "I shall never forget that to you I owe my life."
"You exaggeste," returned the doctor mildly. "You over me only for 15 visits. That is the point which I hope you will not fall to remember."

Most men don't know that when a woman is weak, nervous, irritable and despondent, there is invariably something radically wrong with the delicate feminine organs with which her entire physique is is sensitive touch. There is one, and just one remedy, tried and proven, that will put things right when the feminine organism is weak or diseased. It is Dr. Pierce's Pavorite Prescription. It restores perfect health to the weakened organs, and makes them strong, clean and wirile. It makes wifebood happy, and motherhood easy. It banishes morning sickness and all other discomforts that precede maternity. It makes labor light, abort and almost painless. It helps to make real "new women." AGEINALDO'S APPEAL FOR RECOGNITION The United States may have more trouble with the European powers behave Great Britain at its elbow to belo it out. Aguinaido has appealed to the nations for recognition of the Philippines as an independent republic, and the grounds on which he bases the apwith mations whose symuthise are not strengthed by motives of diplomatic interest. Aguinaldo claims that the Filipinos had fought for and gained their independence from Spain before the country executed the farce of selling the islands to the United States $20,600,000. He produces evidence in the shape of promises from American generals and other high officers to recognize the independence of the istands. Further, the United States has freen actively engaged for over a year in trying to subjugate the ishands and has completely failed far, American papers admitting that the sovereignty of the United States extends no further from the lines of its army than a rifle bullst can range. This constitutes a very atrong onse on behalf of the little republic in its claim for recognition. Should the powers incline to accept it, the diffi-

Copper Shares.

Safest Investment, Largest Dividends.

A portion of the full paid and non-assessable capital stock of the Boston & Texas Copper Company is offered for sale at Five Dollars per share (par $10 for Treasury purposes), and is recommended as a safe and highly promising investment.

The company controls twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in North Texas which is also valuable for farming and town site purposes. The tract is some 10 miles long and about three miles wide. It is equivalent in size to five hundred ordi-

The property has been developed sufficiently to begin producing at once, large amounts of the richest copper ore (40 to 70 per cent.) taken out and marketed, and inexhaustible quantities of copper mari and clay running from 8 to 15 per cent copper found. (Calumet and Hecla and other great dividend payers are working on

The property is within 12 miles of a railroad and fuel and water are available. The ores and marl are on the surface and a few feet down, and can be mined and converted into copper cheaper than any other deposits in America. Copper will be produced on the ground and a plant of moderate cost will treat 200 to 500 tons of ore and material per day, and according to engineers' estimates earn $3,000 to $5,000 per day net, with copper at 15 cts per pound. It is now 18 cts. per pound.

The property has a historical reputation and a record in the State Geological Reports. It has been examined and reported upon by the highest engineering, geological and expert authorities, and its merit and value are established beyond all question. It is not an experiment, nor its value speculative, they are proven and a 160 acre tract should be found without ore upon the surface. A cross-cut to the depth of 15 feet was made upon the Isbell lead, and ten hours' work resulted in the raising of 6,000 lbs. of rich copper ore, averaging about 60 per cent. of copper. (Worth $360, net.)

It is easily smelted and the strata in which it is found can also be more economically excavated than other in which copper ores occur.

From Report of Prof. W. F. Cummins, former Geologist of Texas. In order that I might see the condition of this lode after this amount of work had been done, I employed a few hands and cleaned out the tunnels when I found a lode of copper. This is the disulphate of copper and will yield as high as 70 per cent. of copper. I drove the tunnel twenty feet further into the hill, following the lode. When I had gone about twelve feet I struck another lode of copper eighteen inches east and six inches below the second lode. In three feet more we struck another lode below the second lode. Immediately below the lower sandstone is a stratum of cupriferous marl schists extending the entire width of the tunnel, say four feet, and is probably much wider. This marl will yield

FROM REPORT OF T. BURTON EVERETT, MINING ENGINEER AND EXPERT.

Anoner Ciff, Treas, May 3, 1899.

Hos. Emery H. Low, President, and others, Boston, Mass.: * * Gentlemen:—There is abundant evidence of rich copper deposits, not only at the mines alreas need, but at various other parts of the property, and it is my opinion that this will prove to be one of the exceptionally rich copper-bearing fields of the United States.

* * The ores found in these deposits are immensely rich in copper values and the experiferous clays that are also found here in immense bods, while not as rich Hos. Emmy H. Low, Precident, and others, Boston, Mass.: * Gentlemen:—There is abundant evidence or rich copper deposits, not only at the minute and opened, but at various other parts of the property, and it is my opinion that this will prove to be one of the exceptionally rich copper-bearing fields of the United States. * The orse found in these deposits are immensely rich in copper values and the cuperfiferous clays that are also found here in immense beds, while not as rich will undoubtedly prove of great value on account of the chespness with which they can be mined and reduced.

The mines are accessible at every point; the cost of mining will be very small, as the ore is not in hard formation; and there is no deep work.

I have examined the various reports made by others, and confirm them.

* As far as I have been able to investigate, and I have done so carefully, I am of the opinion it is one of the richest copper fields in the country.

Very respectfully yours,

T. BURTON EVERETT, M. E.

Mr. G. H. Savage, Mine Examiner of Butte, Montana, after gaining sample of ore from the property, says: "The ore is the richest in the country. If you have the field you can pay $1,000,000 dividends per year."

Major F. M. Spaulding, of Boston, and C. F. The Company is thoroughly organized with substantial business men in the management. It has such extensive acreage of land, rich in copper, and so easily and cheaply mined and converted, that dividends can be carned and paid during the current year. charge of assulting Mary Free-furn of the same township. He was found guilty and fined five dollars and costs, which in all amounted to about twelved dollars.

It appears that about one week ago Mary Freeburn, a young woman accompanied by some other ladies were engaged picking berries near the farm of the accused, and were warned by him not to pick any berries of the ladies were did not do, but they found it convenient to cross his farm in going home. It came out im evidence that the latter met them, and thinking that they had disolved his orders to not pick it erries on his farm, he proceeded to repressual them in a most ungentlemantly way, so the complainant and other witnesses allege. He, made a gush at Mary Freeburn but was met by the latter with a club, which he used. But nevertheless she received rather rough treatment, and had the berries, which she spent a long time in picking, destroyed. He then, it was alleged, chased the complainant, and her fellow-pickers off the farm. The defendant admitted spilling the berries, and chasing the complainant, but decided making any bodily answalt.

The magistrate held that he had committed an assault and my bodily answalt.

While all of us have heard in early child hood of the take of magical mirrors, in which impossible heroes saw impossible beroines in danger, from which and heroes oroceeded to resons the fair maidens, yet such things have been relegated by most of us to the region of the imagination. We regard such things as being outside of the region of myth and fable. Yes, in spite of our procase nineteenth century, it is nevertheless a fact that a Washington gentleman is the possessor of an article which might be cleased as appropriately belonging to the sime of Aladdin and the wonderful lamp.

This strange acquisition is a mirror which came from India, and in which one can see the events which the fature will bring forth. That such he is in power is athered by some of the best known gentlemen of the city, who, for obvious reasons, do not wish their names to be mentioned. This mirror came into the possession first of a Washington ledy whe was travelling in India, and, busing interested in the religion of the country, took a trip to the famous temple of Alera, which lies in a rocky side of the foothills of the Himalaya mountains. This temple is new but a ruin of jagged rooks, justing out hashly into the soft greensward that relis smoothly down into the valley below. A GREAT POKERGAME

IT MIGHT HAVE BROUGHT ABOUT AN INTERNATIONAL ROW.

The Victim Was the Samoan King Malieton and the Victor an American Naval Officer - The Jack Pot That Caused the Trouble.

"There was a stiff game of poker played y a paymaster in the navy with King Malicton several years ago. I guess this was about the healthlest game ever induged in by a foreigner. Malicton had heard of the great games played by Kalakaus, king of Hawaii, and the Samoau akaus, king of Hawaii, and the Samoau thought he'd like to take a lettle brush on this line. Well, Maheton's opportunity to test his belief came one day when an American mano-f-warr-kever mind which one—sailed into the harbor at Apia. His determination to take the thirty-second degree in the mysteries of the great American game was satisfied to the fullest extent. Among the officers aboard the man-of-war were a paymaster, a lieutenant and an assistant engineer, the man-of-war were a paymaster, a lieutenant and au assistant engineer, who had burned the midnight lamp studying poker at Aanapolis and had prosecuted the study in season and out or season ever since they left that place. In a word, they were all three just about as amooth poker players as you could find in a month's sterel. in a month's travel.

"There was a trader smong the white residents of Apia who was known to come to the front with a pretty stiff game, and Malietoa soon arranged through him a game with the officers. By invitation and appointment the king and his friends met the officers in the private parlors of a European, and before By invitation and appointment the king and his friends met the olheers in the private parlors of a European, and before the evening was half gone Malletoa requested that the limit, a small one, be taken off. The old codger had won several pretty fair jack pots and feit his importance and ability to clean up the whole crowd. Off the limit came, and for several hours Malletoa had almost phenomenal luck, winning jack pot after jack pot. The more he won the men reckless he became, and when something was said about closing down he entered a large and emphatic protest. The game proceeded, and the healthiest jack pot of the night was on the table.

proceeded, and the healthiest jack pot of the night was on the table.

"Several hands had been dealt around without any one having expressed his ability to open the pot, when the king, with a look of surprise and a smile of pleasurs and triumph combined, an-nounced that he would open it $20 wor?. Every player staid. The paymaster drew three cards, the lieutenant the same num-ber, the assistant engineer took two and three cards, the lieutenant the same number, the assistant engineer took two and the trader one. Malieton showed his bood by standing out and putting $10 more into the pot. The paymaster saw this and raised him $25, while the others staid. Then the king raised again, and the paymaster threw in $25 more. It was becoming too interesting for the other players, and they drupped out. After the king's last raise the paymaster hesitated a moment, put his cigar to one side and shoved $50 to the middle of the mahogany.

shoved $50 to the middle of the mahog-any.

"The king put up the equivalent in Chilean silver dollars, the currency of the islands, and, drawing a small sack from his pocket, emptied its contents be-fore him and excitedly placed in the pot the funds of the royal treasury of Ra-mon, amounting to $79 in silver. The paymaster's face grew serious, and he looked at his royal opponent in a hesitat-ing, puzzled sort of way. Could this be a Samoan Ah Sin he had run against? looked at his royal opponent in a nestrating, parkled sort of way. Could this be a Samoan Ah Sin he had run against? Had this kingly copper colored son of a gun learned the art of poker playing from visiting traders years before and had be been playing possum all the evening? Having six or seven months' pay in his inside pocket, the paymaster decided to chance some of it in finding out.

"After a few moments of undecision he drew CUTO in gold and aliver from his pocket and added it to the pot, which now covered the table. Malieton gave a gasp and called for a glass of kava to steady his nerves. This he gulped down and announced that he was out of funds, requesting at the same time that the paymaster take his word for $500, but there was nary a take, the paymaster only amiling and looking fixedly at the pot. Then the excited monarch offered to put up the island of Manono, one of the finest in the Samoan group, against the $500. To this the paymaster consented, and a transfer deed of the property, duly signed, attested by the trader, who was a motary public, and witnessed by the other two officers, was put in the pot. Then the king called the paymaster, who slowly laid down four acce and a five spot.

showly laid down four aces and a five spot.

"With a look of horror and a Samoan wail of despair, his majesty exposed to view three kings, an eight spot and a deuce. Then he fell off his chair in a faint, the excitement having been too much for his nerves. Kava in copions quantities brought him around sufficiently to enable his removal to his own castle. The paymaster shoveled his money into a sack and placed it in the trader's iron safe, but the deed for the island he carefully placed in his pocket.

"Next morning the details of the hig poker game were known to nearly every inhabitant of the place, and the German and English consuls sent official communications to the American consul protecting in most emphatic terms against the action of the king in disposing of the island of Mannon to an American or to any one close, and warning the consulthat unless the paymaster returned the deed for the island to the king at once they would direct the attention of their respective governments to the case.

"Here was a pretty state of affairs. The officer had, so doubt, won the island fairly, and the king's action was binding, but in the tension in which Samoan affairs were at that time the German and English governments would early too willingly have taken advantage of the circumstances as as excuse for international complications, ending ultimately is a disastrons way to American interests.

"The facts were fully explained to the interests.

"The facts were fully explained to the paymaster, and on the promise of Maile too that he would give the officer a number of fine mats and other Samoan artiher of fine mats and other samean arra-cies of value the deed was returned to the king and destroyed. By mutual con-sent of the consuls and others interested the affair was hushed up in every way and was thus allowed to die set. Malle-toa took an eath that he would never again play poker."

"Tes, sir," remrked the amiable man, "I look to see an Englishman come over here and drop his his once in awhile," "Yes," answeres: the man who has been to Egoom downs, "and be likes to see us go over there and drop our X'n and Va."

This particular bird is to addicted to bestving late hours. On not addicted to besting late nours. On Sunday he is particularly meek and restinged and in this regard acts a worthy example to the employees in Mr Brown's establishment. The fact of his esting a kittan is only an inci-dent and should not be other wise re-carded. In fact, Mr Brown proofes to encourage his net in this particular line and is recentled to pay the highest market price for any number of cats.
